Nixon Shifts ABM's Emphasis

System To Protect Missiles, Not Cities

. . . $6-$7 Billion Plan Aims To Deter Russia

Washington (AP) — President Nixon announced Friday a politically explosive decision to install an anti-ballistic missile system, shifting its focus from protecting U.S. cities against Red Chinese attack to safeguarding the American missile-bomber force from Soviet knockout.

Nixon asserted that the $6 billion-to-$7 billion ABM system he approved "is vital for the security and defense of the United States and also in the interest of peace throughout the world."

Appears To Be Compromise

His long-awaited decision, which followed a five-week review of the Johnson administration's Sentinel ABM plan, was announced at a White House news conference carried nationwide by radio and television. It appeared to be an attempted compromise aimed at averting a head-on battle with a strong Senate bloc which regards the antimissile project as expensive, ineffective, and provocative.

Nixon predicted "a very spirited debate and a very close vote," but claimed "a good chance of getting approval."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, one of the opponents, conceded Nixon has enough support in Congress to win the test. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who wanted deployment delayed, was won over by Nixon "with some reluctance."

McCarthy Spies 'Mistake'

But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., pledged to fight the modified proposal. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., another of the unconvinced, said, "This is the President's first serious mistake."

Stressing the defensive character of the ABM, Nixon said the Soviets are defense-minded and understand this and he said they cannot regard deployment of the ABM as an escalation of the arms race.

Nixon stressed that the revamped Sentinel—with only two sites, at the start, near U.S. missile bases rather than 15 batteries mostly near cities — will be designed to protect this country's nuclear striking force. This missile-bomber force, according to U.S. doctrine, deters Russia from hitting the United States.

'Defensive Only'

"This system is truly a safeguard system, a defensive system only," Nixon said.

"It safeguards our deterrent and under those circumstances can, in no way, in my opinion, delay the progress which I hope will continue to be made toward arms talks, which will limit arms, not only this kind of system, but particularly offensive systems."

Some defense of U.S. population against a possible Chinese attack of relatively small scale is retained, but is downgraded.

"This deployment will not require us to place missile and radar sites close to our major cities," the President said.

The Johnson administration's concept, Nixon said, "provided more capabilities for the defense of cities than the program I am recommending but it did not provide protection agains some threats to our retaliatory forces which have developed subsequently."

Pentagon Concerned

It is known that Defense Department officials are concerned that the Russians are planning to deploy a missile that could be launched into a low, partial earth orbit, with American bomber bases as the target, and many more missile-firing submarines which would aim their nuclear weapons at U.S. ICBM complexes.

Nixon's cost figure is higher than the Johnson administration's $5.5 billion. This apparently is because of additional expensive radar for the system to guard against orbital or submarine threats from south, east and west. The current missile defense concept is oriented northward, because that is where a Chinese or Russian ICBM attack would come from.

The first two sites will be placed at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont., and Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D., locations of Minuteman missile wings.

In addition to those two sites, Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard said, the Pentagon will look for Sentinel locations in 10 other areas. These include Washington, D.C.; Whiteman AFB, Mo.; Warren AFB, Cheyenne, Wyo., and other presently undetermined areas in southern New England, the Florida-Georgia area, Texas, southern California, central California, the upper Northwest, and the Michigan-Ohio region.

Rockets' Reign As Champ Ends

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast's reign as Nebraska state Class A basketball champion is over.

Omaha Central, which was Northeast's victim in the finals the last two years, spoiled the Rockets' bid to become the first team in state history to win three consecutive championships when they stopped the Lincoln quintet, 66-56, at Pershing Auditorium.

The Eagles (13-9) will meet Omaha Metro rival Creighton Prep in the finals at noon Today at the Nebraska University Coliseum. Prep blasted Scottsbluff Friday, 67-40, to raise its record to 20-4. Prep defeated Central, 66-47, in regular-season play.

This is the first time since 1965 that two Omaha area teams meet in the finals. Prep halted Bellevue, 64-53, for the title that year.

Central's rebounding was the big factor that enabled the Eagles to control the game and end a 30-game Northeast winning streak extending over the past two seasons.

Calvin Forrest and Lee Harris grabbed 16 rebounds apiece as the whole Central team got 13 more carom recoveries than the Rockets and hit about half it's buckets on follow shots.

Harris scored 19 to pace Central, with Forrest and Lindberg White hitting 16 apiece. Maury Damkroger had 16 and Tom Novak 14 for Northeast.

In other Friday afternoon games, Sterling and Clarks made their way into the Class D finals, set for 1:45 p.m. at the Coliseum today. Top-seeded Sterling halted Yutan, 60-46, while Clarks downed Shickley 72-64.

Cal Christline hit 28 points to lead Sterling, 20 of them in the first half as the Jets built a 33-24 margin. Yutan trailed by 14 going into the final quarter and twice cut Sterling's margin to eight points with a full-court pressure defense. Rick Heldt had 19 for Yutan.

Clarks trailed by one point late in the third quarter before pulling away from Shickley, as all five starters hit in double figures for the winners, led by Mike Sutko with 17. Lonnie Benson hit 22 for Shickley.

Crete and Cozad moved into tonight's 8:15 Class B finals by ousting Syracuse and Fremont-Bergan in semifinal contests at the NU Coliseum.

Crete moved past Syracuse, 60-53, as 6-5 David Drevo scored 27 points and grabbed 22 rebounds. It was Crete's second win over Syracuse in three games this season.

Cozad came from behind late in the third quarter and held on through a foul-marred final stanza to clip Fremont Bergan, 66-56.

Terry Headley had 24 points and Jack Lawless 18 to pace Cozad, while Loren Navratil and Mike McCarthy led Bergan with 19 and 11, respectively.

In Class C night games at Pershing Auditorium Elkhorn routed Cambridge, 68-37, and Hastings St. Cecilia nipped Wausa, 70-69, to advance to tonight's 6:30 championship contest at the NU Coliseum.

A pair of free throws by Tom Mullen with 17 seconds left capped a fourth-quarter St. Cecilia rally to give the Blue Hawks their victory. Wausa had led by six points, 69-63, with only 1:07 to play.

Elkhorn simply outclassed Cambridge with a balanced scoring attack to complete the lineup for today's championship contests.

Woman Dies Of Stabbing

A 24-year-old woman, identified as Joyce Argullo, was dead early Saturday morning of stab wounds in an incident which apparently occurred at 1407 North 26th.

A small child was also slashed severely across the stomach, first reports from the scene indicated.

The child was being treated at Lincoln General Hospital.

One young man was being taken to police headquarters from the scene.

Bystanders observed bloodstains and knife slashes in the front seat of a car parked in front of the house.

The county attorney's office sent a man to the scene, but no further details were immediately available.

Calf Disease Cause Discovered By NU

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Dr. M. J. Twiehaus, chairman of the Department of Veterinary Science at the University of Nebraska, announced Friday that NU researchers have isolated the virus that causes scours, a calf diarrhea that has plagued Nebraska herds for nearly a century.

Not only did the researchers report that they had found the cause, they also announced that a new vaccine developed at NU is already being tested and may be the solution to the problem.

Without apparent pattern, scours has struck newborn calves so severely in recent years that Nebraska cattlemen have been suffering an estimated $15 to $20 million loss due to the disease.

The disease has been resulting in a high mortality rate in calves and the costs of treatment and resultant rate of loss have been high.

The problem had become so serious that the state's cattlemen in 1966 asked for all-out help from the Legislature, the Bureau of Animal Industry and the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Twiehaus told them that within a year the vaccine developed and being tested at NU may be available to the industry.

Crash Kills 2 At Howells

Howells (UPI) — Nebraska highways claimed the lives of two Howells women in a two-vehicle collision about 5:30 Friday afternoon.

Killed were Mrs. John Wieneke and Mrs. Theresa Westerman.

Both were passengers in a car driven by Miss Laverna Wieneke, also of Howells.

21 Have Filed For Council

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The three seats on the Lincoln City Council which will become vacant this May have attracted 21 candidates who have filed nomination petitions and more announced candidates who have yet to turn in their petitions.

Deadline for filing for the April 8 primary election is Wednesday at the County Election Commissioner's office.

The field of candidates will be narrowed April 8 to six candidates who will vie for election on May 6 to replace the three retiring councilmen — John Comstock, Lloyd Hinkley and Carroll Thompson.

Included in the list of candidates are 19 men and two women. They represent various philosophies of government and different "walks of life"

Reasons for running for office run the gamut of opposition to city zoning practices, desire to see the city prosper, concern about getting new industries, desire to represent the viewpoints of different groups, dedication to city, and concern about taxes.

A breakdown of the group shows that there are eight candidates 20-40 years old, nine 40-59 years old, and four 60 years or older.

The list includes lawyers, retired businessmen and laborers, insurance agents, realtors, young businessmen, self-employed individuals and a university student.

Organizations which candidates belong to include the Chamber of Commerce, Elks, Masons, Shrine, American Legion, Sertoma Club, State Historical Society, Izaak Walton League, Malone Community Center, professional societies, and civic groups.

Nearly all of the candidates are newcomers to run for public office, with a few making a second or third appearance on the primary ballot. None of the candidates has served on the City Council.

Several candidates indicated they would not have run if all three present councilmen had decided to seek re-election.

Candidates who have filed include:

J. Thomas Allen, 57, of 3229 So. 13th, a shopping center owner.

Mrs. Elinor Brown, 54, of 625 So. 56th, owner of Midwest Publishing Co.

Harold Bauer, 60, of 431 E, a retired civil service employe;

Frank Carr, 57, of 4209 So. 43rd, co-owner of Apex Heating and Air Conditioning Co.

Mrs. Essie Burden, 37, of 2710 So. 9th, a chemist at Dorsey Laboratories.

Leonard Egan, 56, of 2101 Bradfield Dr., owner of Egan nsurance Co.

Richard Fitzsimmons, 26, of 1119 B, insurance agent with Prudential Insurance Co.

Verne Gibson, 33, of 1948 Sewell, owner of The Gaslight tavern.

Charles Kitchen, 64, of 2909 U, retired plaster contractor.

Harry "Pete" Peterson, 45, of 2301 Vine, public relations and training officer for Kings Food Host.

Ralph Reed, 50, of 3021 Stratford Ave., agricultural businessman.

Kaer Vanice III, 44, of 6007 Norman Rd., auto distributor.

Wally Vestecka, 33, of 2725 So. 41st, apartment house builder.

W. Richard Baker, 32, of 1035 Lancaster Lane, pharmacist.

Bill Larson, 40, of 4440 So. 38th, circulation dept. employe with the Journal-Star Printing Co.

Edward Lebsack, 61, of 1035 So. 6th, owner of Lebsack Bros. tavern.

Glen Alexander, 50, of 1248 Washington, real estate and insurance agent.

Selmer Solheim, 56, of 1301 J, architect.

Richard Hartsock, 36, of 918 Mulder Dr., lawyer.

Harry Simon, 64, of 1111 Piedmont Rd., board chairman of Ben Simon & Sons.

Lawrence Marvin, 30, of 829 No. 30th, university student.

41 Policemen Penalized For Convention Actions

Chicago (AP) — Chicago's Police Department has closed its inquiry into misconduct by policemen during the Democratic National Convention with penalties for 41 men, none of higher rank than sergeant.

Two of 43 cited for investigation resigned from the force during the inquiry. Thirty-five were suspended from duty for periods ranging from two to 30 days and six were disciplined. Five of those suspended face dismissal proceedings before the police board.

The six suspended police sergeants were relieved of duty for 15 days for failure to properly supervise men under their command.

Improper Use Of Force

Four policemen were suspended for at least 30 days, with a recommendation for dismissal, for improper use of force. Supt. James B. Conlisk said three of the four were accused of involvement in use of improper force against a Chicago Daily News reporter.

Another was suspended for at least 30 days with a recommendation for dismissal for tampering with a camera carried by an unidentified citizen.

Eighteen were relieved of duty for 6 to 12 days for failure to wear stars and nameplates. One was suspended for 15 days for unreasonably drawing his revolver and making threatening and derogatory remarks while questioning a citizen.

Two Didn't Tell

Two men were suspended for five days for not reporting they witnessed another officer violating department rules.

Three were sidelined for two days for failing to inventory property taken after an arrest.

Five policemen and one probationary policeman were given unfavorable mention in their personnel records. They had been accused of verbally abusing citizens during the convention.

'Determination' Shown

Supt. Conlisk said the penalties are "indicative of the Chicago Police Department's determination to discipline any officer who violates department rules."

Joseph LeFevour, president of the Chicago branch of the Fraternal Order of Police, said he is pleased the investigation has ended "but it's strange to me that none of those cited for discipline was above the rank of sergeant."

"We are a semi-military group," LeFevour added.

"The actions of the men in the ranks reflect the leadership of their officers."

Of the 35 men suspended six are sergeants.

New York Times News Summary

President Sees No Immediate Troop Reduction

(C) New York Times News Service

Washington — There is "no prospect for reduction" in the level of American troops in Vietnam at present because of the current enemy offensive, President Nixon told a news conference Friday. (More on Page 2.)

Israeli Challenges Nixon Plan

Washington — Citing the "complexity and peril" of big power guarantees, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban challenged President Nixon's ideas for a settlement in the Middle East. His speech to the National Press Club reportedly echoed his conversations with Nixon administration officials.

Castro Admits Difficulties

Miami — In a major policy address, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro admitted that Cuba is beset by serious econimic, policial and social problems. The most pressing problem is the delay in the sugar harvest, which represents 85 of Cuba's exports

Nixon Modifies ABM System

Washington — In the first major decision of his administration, President Nixon asked Congress to approve a modified Sentinel missile system. The President told a news conference that the redesigned system would protect the nation's deterrent force rather than its cities. (More on Page 1.)

Congress Seems Disappointed

Washington — Congressional reaction to President Nixon's decision to go ahead with a modified Sentinel system was one of disappointment rather than anger. Some senators who opposed the system said that the President was being conciliatory, but they said passage was far from certain.

Defense Spending To Be Cut

Washington — The Johnson administration's defense appropriation request will be cut by about $2.5 billion, President Nixon disclosed. The exact amounts and other details will be given to Congress next week by Defense Secretary Laird.

'Firm Backing' Contemplated

Washington — "Frankly disturbed" by the inflationary implications of the prospect that business investment may rise 14% this year, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy pledged that the Nixon administration would "not slam the brakes" but "apply them firmly" until the economy began to slow down.

Pueblo Warning Not Delivered

Washington — The National Security Agency issued a written warning that protection for the USS Pueblo should have been given serious consideration a month before the ship was captured. But, a House subcommittee reported, the message never got through to any of the top military authorities to whom it was sent. (More on Page 15.)

Mine Standards Looser

Washington — A subcommittee on labor and welfare was told by Dr. Loren E. Kerr, a specialist in coal miners' occupational diseases, that the Nixon administration has proposed a health standard in new mine safety legislation that would be only half as effective in preventing lung damage as that proposed last year by the Johnson administration.

President Nixon Sees No Withdrawal Soon

World News

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon said Friday he foresees no chance of withdrawing any U.S. troops from Vietnam in the near future and announced he will confer with his advisers Saturday on how to respond to the persistent Communist offensive.

The President also told a news conference he believes that peace ultimately will come through secret talks by negotiators of both sides in Paris.

Nixon declined to commit himself on whether he would take tougher counteraction against the enemy in Vietnam because of its "rather substantial offensive."

But he recalled his statement 10 days ago that the United States would be compelled to take an "appropriate response" if the attacks on South Vietnamese cities continued.

Then he sternly declared: "We issued a warning. I will not warn again. If we conclude that the level of casualties is higher than we should tolerate, action will be taken."

Nixon already has discussed the situation with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who returned Wednesday from a Vietnam tour. The President said he would discuss the issue with his National Security Council Saturday.

Asked if he thought some of the 535,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam might be withdrawn soon, Nixon replied: "In view of the offensive on the part of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, there is no prospect for a reduction of American forces in the foreseeable future."

He made these points on other topics:

—He does not plan to make a formal State of the Union address to Congress, but within a month he will submit a comprehensive program of domestic legislation.

—Preliminary figures indicate that his administration can cut $2.5 billion from the $81.5 billion defense budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year submitted by President Lyndon B. Johnson before he left office in January.

—He does not expect a summit meeting with Soviet leaders will take place in the near future but thinks "encouraging progress" is being made in laying the groundwork for such a conference.

—He intends to issue a statement on the current wave of campus rioting early next week.

—The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France are still discussing joint conferences on the Middle East. "We are a lot closer than we were," Nixon said, "but we still have a lot of yardage to cover."

Astronauts' Homecoming Is Joyous

Space Center, Houston (AP) — Back from their four-million-mile space trip, the Apollo 9 astronauts arrived to a tumultous homecoming Friday and shouts of joy from their families and fans.

"Hello there, Red Rover," a group in the airstrip crowd shouted in unison to civilian astronaut Russell Schweickart, using the radio call name he adopted while making America's first spacewalk in two years.

"We've taken a great step forward," said astronaut David Scott with his family at his side.

2 Of First 7

Flanking him were space agency officials and astronauts including Gordon Cooper and Walter Schirra, two of the original seven American spacemen.

"I tell you, there's no place at all like home," said James A. McDivitt, the 39-year-old Air Force colonel who commanded Apollo 9.

It had been more than a month since the earth-circling astronauts had seen their homes and families. "No place is as welcome to our eyes as right here at home," Schweickart echoed McDivitt.

Wife Beams

"It's been since, I think, the 9th of February when we left here and I said goodbye to my family," McDivitt said, his wife beaming.

The crowd of 200 quickly melted away from Ellington Air Force Base where the space trio landed in 30-mile-an-hour winds and temperatures the equivalent of 45 degrees.

"We're always dressed wrong," McDivitt said. He noted that he and his partners, fearing cold weather, all had worn two sets of underwear when they landed in the balmy Atlantic Thursday. Friday they wore only lightweight flight suits and tennis shoes.

Marine Post Hit Again

Saigon (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops apparently charging out of the demilitarized zone attacked a U.S. Marine outpost for the second time within 10 hours Friday, killing 10 Americans and wounding 40 others before being repulsed.

The battle raised the Marines' toll to 16 dead and 65 wounded since they moved into the area two miles south of the DMZ Thursday night, military spokesmen reported Saturday. A total of 23 North Vietnamese were killed.

The Communists, hurling hand grenades and firing automatic weapons, penetrated the defensive perimeter of the Marine camp Friday before withdrawing to the north after a five-hour fight.

If the Communists launched the attack from the DMZ, spokesmen said, it would mark the second time in two days that they had come from the so-called neutral sector in ground assaults. North Vietnamese overran a South Vietnamese outpost near the eastern sector of the DMZ Thursday in the first attack from the zone since the Nov. 1 halt in bombing of North Vietnam.

Communists marked completion of the third week of their current offensive early Saturday by rocketing and shelling the old imperial capital of Hue and about 50 other civilian towns, villages and military installations.

Among the U.S. bases shelled Saturday were the 25th Infantry Division camp at Dau Tieng, where four Vietnamese civilians were killed, and the 9th Infantry Division headquarters at Dong Tam, where American casualties were reported light.

Israel Hits Al Fatah Base In Jordan

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israeli planes pounded a suspected guerrilla stronghold inside Jordan Friday, but the Suez Canal, scene of artillery battles in the past week, was quiet.

The air strike came amid Arab newspaper reports of a mass movement of Israeli tanks, armored cars and troops from Hebron southward to the Sinai Desert.

The Jordanian paper Addustour quoted travelers from the occupied west bank as estimating that 70 tanks and 200 armored cars and truckloads of Israeli soldiers moving toward Sinai by way of Wadi Araba below the Dead Sea.

Few Miles Beyond

The Israeli planes struck a few miles beyond the Jordan River just south of the Sea of Galilee.

Witnesses reported seeing smoke and flames billowing from the Jordan Valley. Military sources said the targets were bases of the Arab commando outfit Al Fatah.

Fires could still be seen blazing at the Port Suez refinery complex and at Ismailia as a result of Thursday's artillery duel along the 103 mile canal, but Cairo radio said the flames had been brought under control.

Quiet was reported along the occupied west bank of Jordan.

Iraqi Troops Stationed In Syria

By United Press International

Diplomatc reports from Damascus said Friday an undisclosed number of Iraqi troops were stationed in Syria at Daraa 60 miles south of the Syrian capital as part of a new Iraqi-Syrian military union aimed at developing a more solid eastern front against Israel.

The Damascus reports said the military combine was agreed to by the Iraqi chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Hammadi Chebab, and the Syrian defense minister, Lt. Gen. Hafez Assad, and that it could pave the way for an eventual political union between the two Baathist-ruled nations.

Syria, Iraq and Jordan have been linked in loose eastern military command since last September. About 12,000 Iraqi troops are already stationed in northern Jordan.

Russians Praise Apollo 9 Mission

New York Times Service

Moscow — Soviet newspapers and scientists Friday had warm praise for the Apollo 9 flight, and indicated to the Soviet public that the United States may soon attempt to send the first men to the moon.

Mitchell Will Appeal Davis Guilty Verdict

. . . JURY DELIBERATES 20 HOURS

By CRAIG CALLAWAY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Grand Island — A jury of six men and six women Friday afternoon brought in a guilty verdict against 32-year-old Thomas F. Davis of Grand Island, former Lincolnite accused of first degree murder in the death of his wife, Phyllis, last Aug. 14.

The Hall County District Court jury had deliberated for a total of approximately 20 hours following nearly two weeks of testimony from witnesses and statements by defense attorney John Mitchell of Omaha and prosecutor R. M. Van Steenberg of Scottsbluff. The trial started Feb. 24, but jury selection took up the first four days.

Following the verdict Judge Donald Weaver told Mitchell he would continue Davis' $50,000 bond and allowed him 10 days to file a motion for a new trial in this court.

Mitchell later told newmen that he intended to file for a new trial in District Court, but admitted that the prospect of being granted one was "very unlikely." But he said he intends to take appeals at least to the Nebraska Supreme Court and any other courts "we might find necessary."

Assuming that Davis is sent to the penal complex for life — as the jury decided — the Grand Island father of seven faces the possibility of at least 10 years behind bars. State Attorney General Clarence Meyer said that persons convicted of first degree murder in Nebraska must spend at least that long in prison before they may be allowed to apply for parole. According to Meyer, historically the average person sentenced to life imprisonment in Nebraska has spent an actual 16¼ years in prison.

Davis Unmoved

The jury notified the bailiff it had reached a verdict at 2 p.m. Friday and the verdict was read in the presence of the defendant and counsel 17 minutes later. Davis, just as throughout the entire trial, showed no emotion of any kind but left the courthouse with his mother soon afterwards.

Mitchell had the jury polled and each juror said he or she found Davis guilty.

Following the verdict Mitchell told newsmen, "I was flabbergasted, shocked. I don't think justice was done."

He said that there should "certainly" be an investigation made to determine who Phyllis Davis' killer was — on the assumption that the onlv way the jury could have found his client guilty would have been based on aiding or abetting or conspiring with such a killer. Asked if he thought the Hall County attorney's office should make that investigation, he replied "I have lost all confidence in the county attorney's office."

20-Year-Old Adults Add Business For Some Agencies

Twenty-year-old Nebraskans were giving some government agencies a boom in business Friday in the wake of the signing Thursday of a bill making them adults in the state.

The Nebraska Health Department was doing a booming business in birth certificates as a result of the new law. During the day Friday, 136 certificates were issued, and 158 were issued during a five-hour period Thursday.

A birth certificate copy, which is used as identification cost $2 in either the "billfold size" or the "full-sized" copy. "Quite a few 20-year-olds purchased both," Vital Statistics Director Freda Theis said.

Impact On Court

The young adults also made an impact on the Lancaster County Court Friday.

Four couples were issued marriage licenses where one or both were 20, and for the first time, no parental consent was required. Involved were five 20-year-olds, with only couple where both were 20.

On the criminal side, two 20-year-old youths were charged and fined in County Court on petit larceny charges allegedly stemming from their taking beer glass and pitchers as souvenirs from local taverns.

According to police, reports were received from taverns Thursday night of thefts of 15 beer glasses, three pitchers, two drink glasses and one salt and pepper shaker set.

No Major Problems

Lincoln police, however, reported no major problems in the aftermath of the new law. Only one youth was arrested for intoxication, officers said.

"There wasn't much change from a usual day," said one policeman. "They were pretty well behaved."

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Friday he would dismiss any pending minor-in-possession - of-liquor charges against 20-year-olds.

Meanwhile State Liquor Control Commission Chairman Ray Osborn said his department has no rules that would bar 20-year-olds from drinking.

Some taverns and liquor stores had cautiously refused service to 20-year-olds for fear of commission rules to the contrary.

City Moving Said Ahead Of Schedule

The moving of city departments out of the old City Hall building and into the new County-City Building is ahead of schedule, according to W. Wayne Harvey, city purchasing agent.

The big move for the city started Friday with three local moving firms working together to transfer goods.

"All city departments should be in the new building earlier than predicted because of the very efficient operation of the movers," Harvey said.

Harvey said that the moving job would likely be done three days earlier than planned.

He said the efficiency of the movers in hauling away goods Friday resulted in some departments being scheduled to be moved earlier than originally planned.

"The offices of the city clerk, City Council chamber, mayor, finance, auditor, and purchasing will likely be moved sometime Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday rather than being moved on the original Thursday date," he said.

City Clerk Harold Springer said his office crew has been packing during the last week. He said the new schedule would not significantly affect their move.

Harvey said the Parks and Recreation Department director's office and the safety director's office would probably be open for business on Monday.

He said the move of the planning department, city engineer, director of public works, director of public utilities and traffic engineering offices would likely be completed by Tuesday.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden said his office might be open for limited business on Tuesday afternoon.

2 Of 4 Branches Of YMCA Finish Member Drives

Two of the four YMCA branches in Lincoln have completed their membership campaigns with good results, according to Monroe Usher Jr., citywide Big Boss of YMCA's largest campaign.

The Camp Branch under the leadership of Earl Ballentine went over its goal of $3,000. The Central Branch with Don Clark as chairman reported $41,544 or 92% of its goal at the final report meeting.

The Northeast and Southeast Branches will continue their campaigns through this month. The Southeast Branch has 84% of its goal and the Northeast Branch has reported 65% of its goal.

Don Harrington is chairman of the Southeast Branch and Alden King is in charge of the Northeast Branch.

Banker At Sidney Killed In Crash

Potter (AP) —A car-train accident on a county road two miles east of here claimed the life of Albert J. Jorgenson, 83, Sidney, a man well known in banking circles.

His wife, Louise, was in serious condition at a Sidney hospital.

Authorities said the car collided with a Union Pacific freight train at the crossing.

Jorgenson was originally of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and came to Sidney in 1910 as a real estate man. In 1920 he went into the American National Bank which he served as president until his retirement eight years ago. Since then he has served as chairman of the board.

He is a past president of the Nebraska Bankers Association.

Signature Increase Not Asked

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Roland Luedtke said Friday he has decided not to ask the 1969 Legislture to propose constitutional changes increasing the percentage requirements for initiative and referendum petitions.

The Lincoln senator has been working on proposed changes in Nebraska's initiative and referendum process for several months.

Originally, he intended to seek hikes in the number of signatures required to place an issue on the ballot.

But now, Luedtke said, he has decided to limit this year's proposals to "reasonable restrictions" on the petition process itself following guidelines set down by the State Supreme Court.

'Real Priority'

"First things first," Luedtke explained.

"The real priority is to get reasonable procedures."

Luedtke's proposals will be presented to a legislative committee for sponsorship. They will not require any constitutional amendments.

Luedtke said he "tested the fever" of the Legislature on a proposed amendment to increase the signature requirements, and decided now is not the time to offer such a change.

Luedtke's proposed bill will not touch either on the question of whether the initiative process may be used to write revenue restrictions into the constitution, he said.

The Supreme Court has raised doubts as to the constitutionality of unrestricted use of the initiative process in revenue matters.

Luedtke hopes that subject can be tested in the courts at an early date.

Nebraskans have used the initiative process to place on the ballot proposed constitutional amendments barring the state from the property tax field and from a tax on income.

Present voter petition requirements are 7% for the initiation of laws, 10% for initiative elections on constitutional amendments, and 5% for referendum issues.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There are sometimes things so obvious to us that we fail to see them. Such is the case with an idea on taxation passed along to us by a friend the other day.

This friend is not a member of the Legislature but follows it closely and is well informed on all public affairs. His proposal is aimed at the matter of state aid to local governments and relief for the property tax.

What he suggests is collection by the state of local taxes through the state income tax. For instance, every county in the state would submit its total budget needs to the appropriate state agency.

The state would then determine the income tax needed in each county to provide the budget funds needed and bill the residents of that county.

★

When the money was collected, it would be returned to the counties as per their submitted budget needs. It seems to us that this is a remarkably good idea.

It provides relief from the property tax, which is not related to many county functions, anyway, but still leaves things in the hands of local government and local citizens. The responsibility for spending would clearly remain with the county.

This is far better than some other systems of state aid, most of which take away the element of local control. The reason counties and cities and school districts are up against it financially is that the property tax is still overworked and local citizens often refuse to assume their responsibilities.

In attempting to solve the property tax load, the state should not circumvent local control if there is any other alternative. The state collection of county taxes, through the income tax, would seem to be a perfect answer to things.

★

Such a plan has many things to recommend it. Not only would it relieve local property taxes and maintain local control, but it would minimize or eliminate the problem of county property vaulations, could encourage school district consolidation and could save administrative costs.

With its computer system, the state could easily take care of billing the income taxes due from every resident of each county, thus relieving the counties themselves of the tax collection expense.

Property valuations would be of much less significance as between counties. If such a plan were applied to school districts as well as counties, even greaer savings and benefits would accrue.

And the income tax is much more closely related to education than is the property tax. Education goes a long way toward determining income levels so it is natural that income be the major factor in determining a family's support of the schools.

★

To carry out such a plan for school districts might require the state to obtain a little more information on its own income tax forms than it now does but it would be a simple thing to do.

Lancaster County now handles the levy and collection of taxes under the property tax for the Lincoln School District in the same way as it could be done by the state under the income tax.

This kind of thing, also, could solve the problems of cities by leaving them room to expand with the property tax. And again, the property tax is much more related to the services performed by cities than it is to any other governmental function.

Such a plan is not a miracle because it still means getting money from taxpayers but there is no alternative to that. But it could prove to be one of the best tax moves since the state left the property tax field.

Nixon Associated With Rifle Group

WASHINGTON — The White House statement that President Nixon had given up his honorary life membership in the National Rifle Association before the 1968 election campaign doesn't square with the NRA's records.

The statement was made in a letter to Rep. Richard McCarthy, the Buffalo, N.Y., Democrat who has been critical of the NRA's lobbying against gun controls.

A source inside the NRA who made a thorough search of the records for this column found no word from Nixon that he wished to renounce his honorary membership.

Here, however, is what the records show: As vice president, Nixon attended the 1954 NRA annual meetings in Washington and was photographed frequently in the NRA "Exhibit Hall." One photograph in the May, 1954 issue of the American Rifleman shows him receiving four hand guns from manufacturers.

The same issue also contained a letter from Nixon to the president of the NRA, then J. Alvin Badeaux, extending congratulations with these words: "Too few Americans are fully aware of the great contribution your organization makes in teaching skill and safety in the handling of firearms."

Nixon became an NRA life member on July 19, 1957. A photograph of him signing his membership card appeared in the American Rifleman for September, 1957.

NRA files show that his mailing address was changed in 1963 from Washington, D.C., to 20 Broadway, New York City. NRA communications and publications were sent to Mr. Nixon at that address for six years. According to the NRA, none was returned. In January of this year, his address was changed to 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C.

If anyone had predicted one month ago that President Lyndon Johnson could travel in the United States unnoticed, no newspaperman would have believed it. However, the ex-President managed to slip into Boca Raton for a 10-day vacation with his old friend, Charlie Engelhard of New Jersey, without anyone's knowing he was there.

LBJ is sensitive about flying on government planes, even though President Nixon told him, as he retired, that he must not fly commercial. Mrs. Johnson flew commercial all over the United States when she was First Lady. Passengers seldom bothered her. Her secretary sat on the aisle seat with two Secret Service men behind.

Harry Truman used to fly commercial, and doubtless LBJ will adjust himself to commercial flights also. He took the trip to Boca Raton however, on the government plane and didn't stir off the Engelhards' spacious grounds.

Don't Stack The Commission

Sen. Elvin Adamson has displayed commendable objectivity in opposing, along with Gov. Tiemann, moves to insure legislative domination of a commission to study changes in the state constitution.

Specifically, the senator objects to amendments to LB244, sponsored by Adamson, offered by the Legislature's Government and Military Affairs Committee. The amendments provide for a 19-member commission, composed of 10 state senators, six persons named by the governor and three appointed by the State Supreme Court. The committee also directed that a state senator automatically become chairman of the commission.

Adamson obviously believes that a commission thus constituted would serve only as a forum for the advancement of preconceived ideas. He said he would be amenable to limiting the number of senators to three and added that a study committee had "recommended the appointment of a commission which could take as objective a look as possible at the constitution."

The state constitution needs change — it is far too restrictive, there are too many artificial barriers and provisos that don't allow the Legislature to respond effectively to today's needs — and the senators should not fear that an objective commission would not come up with a number of legitimate proposals, some of which would strengthen the Legislature's hand. And the Legislature does have the final say on which proposed amendments would be submitted to the electorate.

Aside from a constitutional convention — which would really let the people speak and which probably will never be called because the Legislature will probably never call one — the next best approach to constitutional change is through a revision commission as conceived by Adamson.

Nixon Sides With Hawks

There are such degrees to be considered that it is not really fair to label people as hawks or doves but if you had to affix one label or the other to President Richard M. Nixon after his anti-ballistic missile decision, it would have to be the hawk one.

In approving establishment of a limited ABM system, the President attempted to soften the program. He has said the Sentinel defense system would be installed to protect our nuclear missile strike force and not our cities.

This does limit the program somewhat but the basic issues remain unchanged. Nixon's decision is an admission that the cold war continues and that it is not yet the time to rely upon any peace overtures from the communist world.

The ABM system has been debated on many grounds such as its technical proficiency, its cost and its effect upon the arms race. But the basic issue is whether we come to terms with communism or do not.

We find it difficult to argue with the President in the direction he has chosen to lead us. While fully aware that force is not the ultimate means to peace, we believe it is an approach that cannot yet be abandoned.

Surely, there can be no question as to the aggressive nature of Communist China. As for Russia, it remains a threatening dictatorship that wavers in its leadership between rapport and conflict with the rest of the world. We can only hope that the strength we deploy today leads to a time when reason and understanding can take their rightful place.

Contrast Shown Between Scientist, Politician In Analysis Of Apollo 9's Successful Journey

WASHINGTON — The capital of the United States is full of politicians and scientists and the conflict between them is getting more complicated every year. The events of the last few days illustrate the point.

The successful Apollo 9 space flight took place precisely when the Nixon administration was arguing over the control of military arms here, and this has raised some fundamental questions among the President's principal aides.

If the United States could put the Apollo 9 into space, and then change its target at the last minute to suit the vagaries of the weather, and still land it right on target, why couldn't the U.S. or the Soviet Union or any other modern nation use the science of rocketry and technology for military purposes?

The space experts in Houston could have programmed their computers to switch Jim McDivitt, David Scott, and (Rusty) Schweickart in their flying nose cone from Bermuda to Hawaii just as easily as they ordered the splashdown north of Puerto Rico. And they could have put nuclear weapons on the rocket instead of three living astronauts.

☆ ☆ ☆

The military possibilities of space technology are both obvious and terrifying. Not only the United States but the Soviet Union now have the capacity to put apocalyptic weapons into space but they can drop them on any city on earth, thus confronting the opposition with impossible problems of defense.

How does an antiballistic missile or any other system deal wth a problem like that? This is what the Congress is now arguing about at the present time. The Apollo 9 splashdown east of Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas after its 151st revolution of the earth could have been triggered to drop anywhere else on the first, or the 15th or 50th revolution or any continent or any country, county or city on the face of the globe.

The officials at the White House, the State and Defense Departments took time out from their other problems to watch the astronauts land in the sea Thursday morning. The sun was shining, and spring was coming up the Potomac from the Carolinas, but their minds were on what the President would say next day about ordering an antiballistic system, though most of them knew that any available system, no matter what it cost, wouldn't really provide security against intercontinental or space rockets.

The concern in Washington is with the politics of missiles and space and not with the reality. Are the people, or anyway the politicians, worried about attack by intercontinental missiles? If they are, let's give them an antimissile system, even if it doesn't work, and no matter what it costs; and no matter what money it takes away from the problems of the cities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Washington was thinking politically about the splashdown this week. Officials here were proud of the achievement and relieved that they didn't have to deal with a disaster, but they were still preoccupied by the argument on Capitol Hill about the politics of an antiballistic system.

The contrast between the astronauts and the politicians in Washington could not be more striking. One is reminded of H. G. Wells' description of the men of action and the men of politics in the first World War.

"Are there no men," he asked, "to think as earnestly as one climbs a mountain, and to write with their uttermost pride? Are there no politicians to face truth as those boys at Mons faced shrapnel, and to stick for the honor of the mind and for truth and beauty as those lads stuck to their trenches?"

The same contrast is apparent in Washington here now. The capital is celebrating the precision of the scientific mind, the integrity of thought that produced Apollo 9, but at the same time, it is staggering and blundering through the imprecisions of politics, and hoping that somehow it will splashdown in calm water.

Nursing School

Lincoln, Neb.

In reference to the article about the closure of St. Elizabeth School of Nursing in the March 11 Star, we would like to take issue with the statement ". . . concentrate on patient care."

It is known that the students are very much a part of maintaining good quality nursing care. In 1968 the National League of Nursing accreditation ranked St. Elizabeth as one of the outstanding schools of nursing in Nebraska and commended it for its outstanding nursing program. The basic reason for the closure of our school is lack of financial assistance.

Are the citizens of Nebraska going to stand by and watch one of the best nursing schools in the state close its doors to the future nurses who are so badly needed in our community?

Omaha Job Corps

Lincoln, Neb.

The Social Action Committee of the Unitarian Church of Lincoln is disturbed about the telegram sent to Congressman Denney from the Associated Retailers of Omaha. In this telegram the Associated Retailers stated that the location of the Omaha Job Corps in downtown Omaha is responsible for decline in central area retail sales, and has hurt the image of the downtown area and the city. The telegram ends: "Confidence in continued physical improvements and capital developments in the downtown district is before the minds of those evaluating the future. Our members, signed below, entreat your cooperation." This telegram was signed by 23 members of the Associated Retailers of Omaha.

We were amused to find that over half of the retailers signing the telegram were either located outside of the downtown area in question or had built branch stores in shopping centers on the outer edges of Omaha. That might be one good reason for the "decline in central area retail sales." We also think it indicates that they may not have "confidence in continued physical improvements and capital developments in the downtown district"!

We are convinced that the Job Corps should be kept in Nebraska. It is one of the few positive approaches to poverty and has given many young people a chance to live their lives productively and with dignity. If the Job Corps is forced out of Omaha, we hope that it will be relocated within our state.

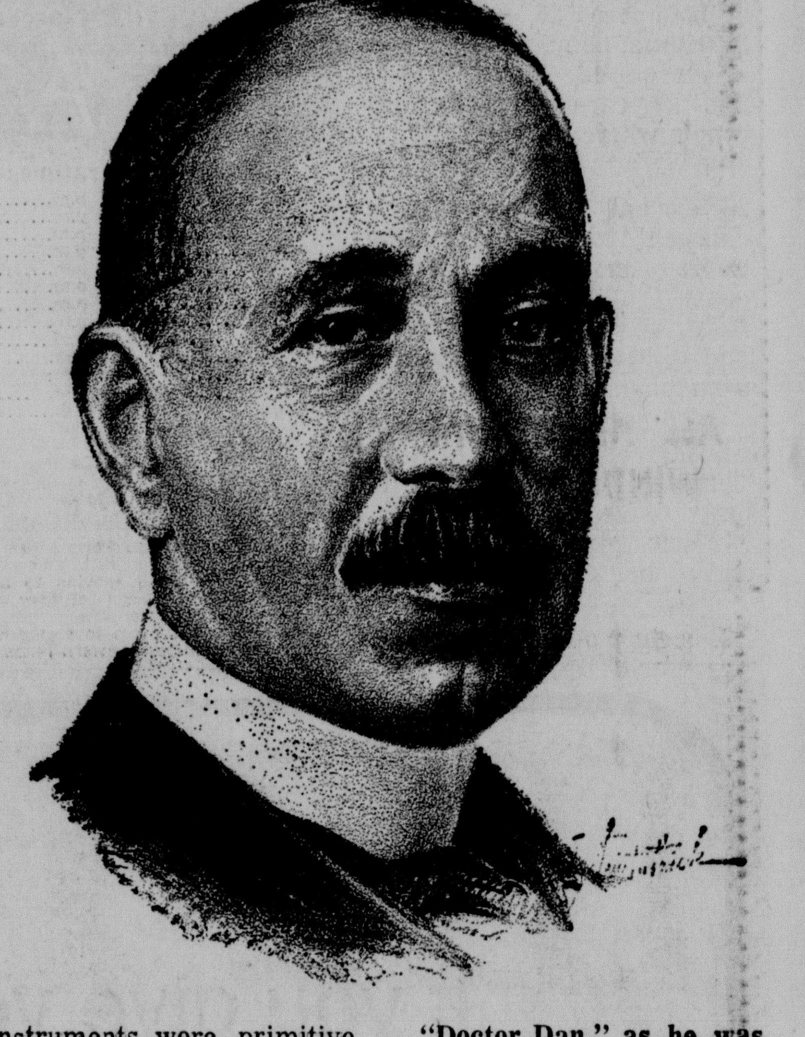
DR. DANIEL H. WILLIAMS

They Had A Dream



It was a hot summer night in 1893 when Dr. Daniel Hale Williams came face to face with his future. It hinged on his decision in an emergency case involving a deliveryman named John Cornish.

Cornish had been stabbed in the heart in a saloon brawl and brought to Dr. Williams at Chicago's Provident Hospital. He was unconscious, in shock and bleeding internally.

Dr. Williams examined the victim and then weighed the risks of an operation, risks both for Cornish and for himself.

Dr. Williams knew what to try and fail would cost him his hard-won professional reputation. Inaction was the prudent course, but Dr. Williams knew that would cost Cornish his life.

The surgeon made his decision. Summoning six doctors as observers, he prepared Cornish for surgery.

Dr. Williams faced formidable obstacles. Wonder drugs, blood transfusions, X-ray and heart-lung machines were unknown. Even his surgical instruments were primitive for such a delicate task.

Despite these handicaps, Dr. Williams opened the patient's chest, deftly repaired the damage and then closed the incision. Cornish survived.

The feat made medical history. It was the first successful operation on the human heart. It also was a measure of the man. Dr. Williams always had refused to let the odds intimidate him.

☆ ☆ ☆

Born in Hollidaysburg, Pa., in 1856, Williams was thrown on his own at the age of 12. He worked his way through high school, persuaded the town doctor to take him on as apprentice and then struggled through Chicago Medical School on borrowed money. He won his degree in 1883.

"Doctor Dan," as he was fondly called, was successful in private practice but finding hospital accommodations for his Negro patients was always difficult. So, in 1891, Dr. Williams founded Provident Hospital, the nation's first interracial hospital. Later he served as chief of Freedmen's Hospital, a federal institution in Washington, D.C. He built racially integrated staffs at both hospitals and also organized nursing schools when he ran into a shortage of qualified nurses.

Dr. Williams performed many celebrated operations and gained fame as a leader in the development of 20th-century surgical techniques. His patients were both black and white, rich and poor. Dr. Williams died in 1931.

Trade School Area Withdrawal Law Is Upheld

By Associated Press

The State Supreme Court cleared the way Friday for possible withdrawal of nine counties from the Mid-Plains Area Vocational Technical Training School at North Platte.

In a unanimous opinion, the court held to be constitutional a 1967 act which establishes procedures by which counties may remove themselves from the area of a trade school district.

The Supreme Court dismissed a challenging lawsuit brought by Dr. Melville L. Chaloupka, Callaway physician, and directed that results of the withdrawal election held last November be ascertained.

The Mid-Plains school was created to include 10 counties, but petitions were filed last year calling for an election on the withdrawal of nine of the counties — Arthur, Chase, Custer, Dundy, Keith, Logan, Perkins, Red Willow and Thomas.

Only County

Removal of these counties would leave only Lincoln County, the home county, in the trade school's area.

The Lincoln County District Court last Oct. 7 issued a permanent injunction to keep the withdrawals from being put to the voters, but a supersedeas bond lifted the injunction sufficiently to permit the election to proceed. However, the district court enjoined the counting of ballots in Custer and Lincoln Counties pending determination of the appeal to the Supreme Court, so the area-wide results of the balloting have not been determined.

The issue of removing one or more counties from a trade school area is put to a vote of the entire area under the 1967 withdrawal law — not merely the county or counties seeking withdrawal.

The Supreme Court directed that the results of the election held last Nov. 8 now be ascertained.

The Lincoln County District Court had found that the withdrawal law as amended in 1967 did not violate the constitution, and the Supreme Court concurred. But the lower court held that the State Board of Vocational Education was without power to validate the petitions for withdrawal, and on this point the Supreme Court disagreed. The state board "does not act judicially or quasi-judicially but performs a purely administrative act,'' the Supreme Court opinion said.

Dr. Chaloupka had challenged also the provision of the law which says that 20% of the voters participating in the last general election must sign withdrawal petitions when only one county is involved, but only 15% need sign if the petition requests the withdrawal of more than one county. Both the district and Supreme courts held this was not an unreasonable classification.

The Supreme Court rejected also Dr. Chaloupka's contention that the title to the 1967 legislative bill was defective.

New Trial Ordered In Marijuana Case

By Associated Press

An oral statement given by a defendant and transcribed by a court reporter cannot be used against the defendant at his trial if the defendant did not sign the statement and the court reporter who transcribed it is not available to testify to its accuracy, the State Supreme Court held Friday.

The holding led the court to order a new trial of Dennis LaVern Harding, convicted in the Holt County District Court of marijuana possession and sentenced to two years.

Harding's statement was taken stenographically and transcribed by Ted McElhaney, the Holt County District Court reporter. McElhaney died before the case came to trial and thus was not available to be cross-examined as to the accuracy of the transcribed statement.

In other rulings Friday, the court:

—Upheld in an appeal from Dodge County the 20-year penitentiary sentence given convicted burglar Robert William Losieau as an habitual criminal.

The high court rejected Losieau's contention that to be charged with being an habitual criminal is to be charged with a distinct offense or crime which invokes the defendant's right to a jury trial. The increased punishment which the state's habitual criminal law permits "is a court determination and not one for a jury,'' the Supreme Court said.

—Affirmed the Lancaster County District Court conviction of Henry Reichel for burglary.

—Upheld the Cheyenne County District Court in dismissing an injury suit brought by Leslie C. Landmesser Jr. against a group of law enforcement officials. Landmesser was injured in the explosion of a tear gas projectile which had been overlooked and left in a house at Sidney following a police operation.

—Affirmed the Polk County District Court jury award of $6,037 to the Kresha Construction Co., Inc., in a suit to recover money allegedly due under a house building contract.

—Concurred in the Douglas District Court dismissal, on a demurrer, of a suit brought by Mervin D. Evans of Omaha to prevent the Metropolitan Utilities District from paying to the municipalities in which it operates two per cent of gross retail sales as required by the 1967 Legislature's passage of LB425. The Supreme Court said MUD properly should have brought the suit, and there is no evidence that Evans asked MUD to do so or that MUD declared it would not do so. MUD's customers were not the real parties in interest, the Supreme Court said. The high court did not rule on the constitutionality of LB425, which Evans sought to challenge.

Injury Control Conference Slated

The Central College Health Association of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska will hold a conference on the "Development of Injury Control for Small Colleges'' March 21-22 at the University of Nebraska Center in Lincoln.

A major feature of the conference will be a dinner address on "Economic Costs of Accidents'' Friday night by Richard E. Marland, assistant commissioner for program development, Consumer Protection and Environmental Health Service, Rockville, Md.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Firm Uses Retirees As Guides

By ROBERT PETERSON

Most large firms require employes to retire at 65. Such a uniform policy makes it easier to administer pension plans and eliminates charges of favoritism.

It's well known, however, that the policy also results in the loss of much experienced manpower.

Firms seeking ways of using retired personnel may be interested in the Deere plan. At the John Deere Tractor Works in Waterloo, Iowa, they're using retired employes as part-time plant tour guides.

Formerly, on-the-job employes were taken from desks or assembly lines to steer some 15,000 visitors a year through the huge Deere plant and explain the workings of the various departments. This often impeded production and disturbed the smooth functioning of operations.

Now that they're using retired personnel as tour guides, current production continues unhindered and visitors can be given more time and attention.

To eliminate the need for putting retired personnel back on the payroll, with all the attendant paperwork, arrangements were made for these folks to be hired by a temporary work supplier in the city who carries them on his payroll and sells their services as required, at an hourly rate, to the Deere company.

Currently, about 50 retired Deere employes have accepted the invitation to work as part-time tour guides. Some days none are required, but other days a dozen or more may be needed. Chief qualifications are an interest in people, the ability to talk easily with others, and a capacity for walking the four or five miles daily required when on guide duty.

Says Bush Dodd, head of Deere's plant visitation program, "This plan has had double benefits, for we have benefits from the services of these retired personnel, and many of these retirees in turn have been pleased to make use of their past experience with us, and to supplement their incomes through this important work.''

Do you ever encounter a word you've never seen before? I read a great deal and figured I was at least dimly acquainted with every word in the English language. But last night I was reading a magazine interview with Richard Burton who was quoted as saying his wife had, "an inspissated mind.''

This sent me running for the dictionary, and sure enough there it is — a perfectly proper word of Latin derivation meaning, "To thicken, as by evaporation.'' Burton must be on very good terms with his glamorous wife to say such things about her mind and get away with it.

If you would like a booklet, "The 50 Most Popular Retirement Hobbies,'' write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Make this your year to enjoy a better lawn

Simply spread a bag of Turf Builder on your lawn and enjoy the difference it will make. Turf Builder is the patented fertilizer that makes grass multiply itself. It feeds slowly and steadily, avoiding the wasteful surge growth that makes for extra mowing. Keeps grass greener longer too. Pick up a bag this week end and enjoy a greener, thicker lawn this year.

"I Shall Keep This Lent"

"LENT" means springtime. It is an old Latin word which means a forty day fasting period next before Easter. It begins with Ash Wednesday and continues till Easter; exclusive of Sundays. It is a time for the conditioning of our soil . . . a time for our Souls to become penitent. It simply means that it is spading up time, the season for planting seeds and for setting blooming trees.

In the realm of the spirit it is a call to get ready for the season of beauty and goodness.

Who amongst us is satisfied with what he is or what he has been? Then let us qualify for the Lenten Season. Let us clear away the rubbish of last year's crop, cut under the old stalks. May we learn from our Lord to give ourselves to good conditioning during Lent. The miracle of Lent is genuine repentance which leads to Newness of Life. A Saintly Keeper of Lent said it well when he spoke the words, "I shall keep this Lent, and hope to refresh my Soul." Amen

Firm Hired For State Personnel System Study

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann announced Friday that a Chicago consulting firm has been hired to make a $60,000 study designed to launch a state personnel system.

Tiemann said the firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget was selected in consultation with Unicameral leaders, and will start work within two weeks.

The study, requiring about six months to complete, will develop "job descriptions for every job in state government" and classify all positions "for comparison with present market prices for those jobs both inside and outside state government."

"Internal and external discrepancies will be eliminated," Tiemann told a news conference. "A major problem in state administration is the lack of uniformity at all levels with regard to job classifications, job descriptions and wage scales."

Groundwork for the state personnel system was laid by the 1967 Legislature in creating the State Personnel Office as recommended by the Budget Committee.

The state office with a present staff of three has done preliminary work that will be further developed and refined by the consulting firm.

Tiemann said funds for the study are not yet appropriated, but said he anticipates the Legislature will approve sufficient funds in the 1969-71 biennial budget.

Tiemann noted his Little Hoover Commission has recommended "a personnel system be established immediately," and Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel has also urged appropriate steps to fully implement a state personnel system.

Will Include NU

Bob Barnett, the governor's legal counsel, said the personnel study would include the University of Nebraska and the state colleges "for all positions below faculty level."

He said no firm decision has been made as yet with faculty positions and salaries will be reviewed by the consulting firm.

Tiemann said the consulting team will be headed by Everette J. Latiolais, a partner of the Chicago firm. He said Latiolais has done similar work for the states of South Carolina, Maine, and Florida as well as cities and industries.

New Bills Would Abolish Many Advisory Groups

By Associated Press

A pair of bills which would abolish a bevy of advisory commissions and committees in Nebraska were introduced in the Legislature Friday by the Budget Committee.

Among the groups which would go out of existence under terms of the bills are the State Highway Advisory Commission and State Aeronautics Commission.

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln, one of the Budget Committee members signing the bills, said the measures will prompt a review of all the advisory groups which have developed, and the advisability of continuing them.

One of the bills, LB1343, calls for abolition of committees whose members receive compensation and expenses from the state general fund.

Committees which would be axed by LB1343 include the State School Reorganization Committee, the State School Accreditation Committee, Professional Practices Commission for Teachers, Veterans Advisory Commission, Nebraska Commission on Alcoholism, Advisory Committee on Hospital and Medical Facilities, Radiation Advisory Council and others.

The second bill, LB1344, abolishes advisory committees whose compensation and expenses come from federal or cash funds.

These include the Aeronautics and Highway Commissions, State Advisory Committee on Rural Rehabilitation Corporation Fund Disbursements, Advisory Committee on Motor Vehicle Inspections, Wheat Development Committee, Potato Development Committee, Crippled Children's Committee and others.

Legislative Bills Introduced

By Associated Press

Bills introduced in the Legislature Friday:

LB1343 (Budget Committee)—Abolishing various advisory committees and commissions which draw compensation and expenses from general fund.

LB1344 (Budget Committee)—Abolishing advisory committees whose compensation and expenses are paid out of federal and cash fund.

Marijuana Bill Change Urged

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Friday said he would like to see a pending marijuana penalty bill amended to provide for "rehabilitation and treatment of narcotics addicts."

In the case of the marijuana user, Tiemann told his news conference, he believes instruction should be provided on "the evils of use of drugs . . . how the first step might lead to use of addictive drugs."

Pending before the Legislature is LB2, a bill which would reduce the charge for the first offense user of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor.

The bill is intended to improve prosecution.

Many law enforcement and judicial officials are now reportedly reluctant to prosecute under the felony penalty.

On another legislative matter, Tiemann said that now that the Legislature has enacted legislation reducing the majority age from 21 to 20, he would approve a proposed constitutional amendment to similarly reduce the voting age.

Tiemann had preferred a voting age drop to 18 or 19.

4 Of Carpenter's Tax Bills Passed On Final Reading

By Associated Press

Four of Sen. Terry Carpenter's tax bills were passed on final reading in the Legislature Friday.

Friday's bills enjoyed generally clear sailing except for a minority cluster of votes against the Scottsbluff senator's LB25, which provides penalties for county assessors who, in their official capacity, oppress, injure or defraud any person.

LB25, passed 33-8, permits a fine of up to $200 and makes the assessor answerable for damages up to the limits of his official bond.

Other bills passed (E-emergency clause):

LB39 (Carpenter)—Exempting cemetery deeds or mineral deeds from the documentary stamp tax, and revising related law. (E). 41-0.

LB393 (Carpenter)—Providing for issuance of certificates of achievement to county board members who take training courses given by the tax commissioner. 39-1.

LB400 (Carpenter)—Revising the deadline dates for delivery of tax lists or unit tax ledgers to county treasurers. (E). 39-0.

Friday Ceremony

White candles burning in pedestal candelabra trimmed with American Beauty roses formed the chancel decor in Westminster Prebyterian Church, Friday evening, March 14, for the wedding of Miss Betty Jo Pike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis O. Pike, and Richard Lee Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Hall.

Floor-length frocks of red velvet were worn by Mrs. Ronald Vosika, as her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmatrons, also sisters of the bride, Mrs. Francis Blondon, Aurora, Ill., Mrs. Rudy Stolz, Thornton, Colo., and Mrs. James L. Hruza, Serving Mr. Hall as best man was David E. Murray, and seating the guests were Ronald D. Vosika and Jerry D. Hall. The groomsmen were Larry Honeycutt, Don Hollstein and Charles Miller.

Chantilly lace and ivory satin fashioned the bride's heirloom gown. A Queen Anne collar, traced with pearls, accented the snug, long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the satin skirt was caught into controlled fullness and continued into an aisle-wide train.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will live at 1943 So. 34th. The bridegroom is attending John F. Kennedy College at Wahoo, and Mrs. Hall is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Practical Nursing.

IN suburbia

There comes a time near the end of every winter when things really begin to happen. It occurs when the sun begins to get down to business, and athough we know it may be quite awhile before good weather is here to stay, there is a glimmer of hope in knowing that this cantankerous season will not be with us forever, after all.

Spring fever is not yet upon us, to be sure, but hibernating households are beginning to come out of their stupor, and with a yawn and a good stretch, they are ready to do things again. Conveniently, it seems that just as everyone is ready to be active again, there are any number of things to help keep them that way.

You no doubt know of the Peanuts books — those "Happiness is . . . " and "Security is . . ." and "Live is . . ." shorties. If ever there is a collection of "Busy is . . ." slogans, we have one that should be included: "Busy is having a party for 32 knidergartners."

In this case, "busy" is what Mrs. Dale Phillips will be on Monday afternoon, March 17, when the members of the morning kindergarten class of Belmont School will be the guests at a St. Patrick's Day birthday party for their classmate, Douglas Phillips. Also helping Douglas enjoy his sxith birthday anniversary will be his sisters and brothers, Donna, Daniel, David, and Diane.

Giving Mrs. Phillips a hand with the festivities will be Douglas' grandmother, Mrs. Stephen Phillips.

Douglas is not the only member of the family with a March birthday, by the way. Diane will be celebrating her second birthday on Saturday, March 22.
celebrating her second brithday on Saturday, March 22.

Early March has been a busy time for Mr. and Mrs. Dean L. Peterson and their family. This weekend they will be spending some time in Hastings where the attraction is Hastings State College which Shirley Peterson plans to attend next fall.

Miss Peterson arrived home for spring vacation on Friday, March 7. She will return to classes at Temple Buell in Denver on March 23, and although summer seems a long way away, we understand that the young lady already has summer plans. As a matter of fact she will be quite busy since there is a three months job at the Estes Park YWCA camp which will keep her in Colorado until fall.

The same weekend Shirley arrived in Lincoln for her two weeks of vacation, some new residents moved to Lincoln, residents who are of some interest to Mr. and Mrs. Peterson — they are Mrs. Peterson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bolin, and their children Debbie, Jimi, and Danny.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolin and their family have previously called a farm near Gibbon "home", and now they will be having a 4100 LaSalle address and a taste of city living. Mr. Bolin is an employee of Roberts Dairy Co. The three younger members of the family will be adding to the student population of Calvert School.

ABBY: lack of confidence

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law is a doll. I love her as tho she were my own daughter, but here is the problem:

She has been married to my son for over three years now, and she has never had Dad and me to her house for a meal. Not once!

I have her and my son over for meals all the time, and we get along fine, so I know it's not that she doesn't care for me.

I know she has had little company dinners. (She has even asked me for recipes, which I give her gladly.) But we are never invited. It's not that she can't afford it because money is the least of her worries. Also she has a nice home and beautiful things to entertain with, so WHY hasn't she ever invited Dad and me over for a meal?

BEWILDERED IN L.I.

DEAR BEWILDERED: If I had to guess, it would be because she lacks confidence and fears she wouldn't measure up.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HATTIE: A man who really wants to work will take any kind of job he can get until something "more in his line" is available. Your man sounds like the kind who, when opportunity knocks at the front door, is out in the back yard looking for four-leaf clovers.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reeply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Courtesies Honor Coed

The bridal courtesies are continuing for Miss Jean Christensen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Christensen, who has chosen an early spring date for her marriage to Craig Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt O. Roberts.

Miss Christensen and her fiance, both of whom are seniors at the University of Nebraska, will share honors next Thursday evening at a dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Julius Humann will be host and hostess at their home.

Also host and hostess to family members at a dinner in courtesy to Miss Christensen and Mr. Roberts were Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Pollard who entertained last Sunday at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Saturday afternoon, March 1, a linen shower was presented to the bride-elect at a party given by Mrs. Robert Vogel and Mrs. Bryan Rickertsen at the home of Mrs. Vogel.

Also hostesses at a recent courtesy for Miss Christensen were Mrs. Scotty Schuetz and Mrs. Gary Higgins who entertained at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Schuetz.

Miss Christensen also was honored recently at a personal shower for which Mrs. Arthur Freeman was hostess at her home. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Freeman were her daughter, Miss Sally Freeman, and Mrs. Tom Bassett.

The wedding of Miss Christensen and Mr. Roberts will take place on Saturday, March 29.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

The secret of good defense is partnership cooperation, and there are many methods available by which the defenders can communicate with each other to achieve the best result.

For example, take this hand where East-West worked together very well to put declarer down four at one notrump!

West led the queen of hearts, East playing the deuce and South the king. Declarer entered dummy with a club to the king, on which West played the seven and East the deuce, and returned the jack of diamonds, East and South following low.

West won with the queen and made the somewhat startling return of a club, East's nine forcing the ace. Declarer could now have cashed the ace of hearts to hold himself to down three, but he naturally elected to lead a diamond to force out the ace and establish three diamond tricks.

East won and cashed three club tricks, on which West discarded his three remaining hearts, and West won the last five tricks when East switched to the queen of spades after cashing his clubs.

Of course, declarer would have done far better had he gone up with the king of diamonds at trick three. Even so, East-West deserve full credit for taking advantage of declarer's misguess.

Strangely enough, the key to the defense came from East's deuce plays on the first two tricks. East's deuce of hearts at trick one showed lack of interest in hearts and made it clear that he did not have length or strength in that suit.

His deuce of clubs conventionally showed an odd number of clubs and thus made it clear to West that East had five clubs. West's club return at trick four was therefore strongly indicated, and his retention of all five spades was based on the certainty that East was bound to have a high spade honor if South's 16 to 18 point notrump opening bid was to be believed.

There's Friction At The Met

BY DONAL HENAHAN
(c) New York Times Service

New York — There is big trouble in Valhalla. Birgit Nilsson, the blunt, temtemperamental Wagnerian conductor, as to Herbert von Karajan, the suave, tempeamental Wagnerian conductor, as "Herbie," is snubbing the New York Metropolitan Opera.

The reigning goddess of German opera feels the company has been pampering the similarly idolized maestro at her expense. There is, of course, another soprano involved.

Miss Nilsson has therefore informed the Metropolitan that she will not be the Brunnhilde in the 1970-71 season's premiere of "Gotterdammerung." Moreover, the Swedish soprano says she will not sing at all in next season's "Ariadna Auf Naxos." She was scheduled for seven to nine performances.

"I am sad, and disappointed in the Met," she said. The company—at the instigation, she believes, of von Karajan—planned to cut the number of her "ring" performances in 1970-71, and bring in a new von Karajan protege, Helga Dernesch, to sing in her place.

Miss Nilsson, in a telephone interview from San Antonio, Tex., where she sang in "Turnadot" over the weekend, said she has cut her Metropolitan schedule in half for 1970-71. Instead of the 12 performances offered her by the Met, she will sing six, three "Ring" performances in the fall, and three in the spring.

"I don't have to fight to sing 'Gotterdammerung' anywhere, you know," Miss Nilsson said. "I don't blame von Karajan. He should have new singers if he wants them. But if von Karajan doesn't want me, I cannot sing. We singers are very sensitive people. When the birds are not happy, they don't sing."

The Met has denied to her that the conductor, with whom she has had snappish relations for several years, ever said he did not want Miss Nilsson. But the soprano "had the feeling that von Karajan wanted the number of my 'ring' performances reduced."

Robert Herman, the assistant manager of the Met who arranged the 1970-71 schedule after several talks with both Miss Nilsson and the conductor, told the New York Times that "there was no desire on the part of Mr. von Karajan" to bypass the soprano.

The German conductor had left for Salzburg and was unavailable for comment.

Rudolf Bing, the Metropolitan's general manager, was ill and home in bed, Herman said, and could not discuss the case, which seemed likely to be his biggest headache since his famed blowup with Maria Callas a decade ago.

Miss Nilsson agreed that the Met later offered her all the Wagner performances she wanted. But it was too late by then.

"This is the first time I have found somebody not really wanting me," Miss Nilsson said. "If they wanted Dernesch for some performances, they should have said so. I would have been helpful. She has a big, dramatic voice."

Miss Dernesch is scheduled to sing Brunnhilde in the von Karajan production of "Gottendammerung" this spring in Salzburg.

Over the years, exchanges between Miss Nilsson and von Karajan have taken on a sharper edge. Miss Nilsson has been known to become annoyed at the conductor's long, painstaking lighting rehearsals, for which all the singers must be on stage.

Miss Nilsson contended too, that von Karajan productions are so dimly lighted that the audience often cannot see her.

"It is very difficult to express oneself in the dark, she said. "He likes the lights on you only when you sing, otherwise you are in the dark. I told Mr. Bing that I could go out for coffee sometimes and no one would know the difference."

Miss Nilsson's frank humor is an opera legend.

Once, in a moment of truth and high spirits, she listed Rudolf Bing on her income-tax return as a dependent.

At the moment, Miss Nilsson has no contract with the met after 1970-71, and she said she was in no mood to think about later seasons. "I have a letter on my desk from Mr. Bing offering to discuss plans for 1971-72," said. "I haven't answered it."

Salary Amendment Suggestion Altered

By THOMAS EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

The Charter Revision Committee Friday reworded its proposal for a charter amendment on the mayor's salary and decided not to take action on charter amendment proposals on the Lincoln Electric System (LES) and Lincoln General Hospital Board.

The adopted amendment on the mayor's salary would remove from the charter the requirement that the mayor receive a salary higher than the salary of a department head. It must still be approved by the City Council Monday if the amendment is to appear on the May ballot.

The committee agreed to modify its proposed amendment on salaries after committee member Dr. Marvel Baker indicated that he objected to the section which permitted the council to review and possibly raise the mayor's salary during the term of office.

'Should Be Standard'

"The salary should be standard for the entire term and not be reviewed every year," Baker said.

The committee agreed and revised the amendment to read that the mayor's salary shall not be changed during the term of office effective April 1, 1971.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf makes $17,325 annually and is the top paid official in the city.

Proponents of the amendment argue that it would allow the city to hire directors at a competitive salary.

The motion to table action on the charter amendments involving the LES and hospital boards means that the two amendments will not appear on the May election ballot.

Dealine Monday

The board had to make decision this week so that the City Council could act in time by the Monday deadline.

Roy Loudon, who proposed the motion, said the complexity of the two issues does not make it possible for the committee to take immediate action to get the amendments on the ballot.

The Power Advisory Board had proposed an amendment which would create a board separate from the city to manage the operatons of the Lincoln Electric System.

The hospital board amendment would provide enabling legislation for the City Council to determine the duties of the governing board.

W. Fergusen Seeks Airport Authority Seat

William L. Fergusen, 56, of 2500 Calvert, filed Friday for election to the Airport Authority.

WILLIAM FERGUSON

Seeks Airport Position

Fergusen said he had been asked by the Lincoln Civil Air Patrol to run for the office.

A licensed pilot for 14 years, he is a member of the Civil Air Patrol.

Fergusen said the present Airport Authority is doing a very good job in utilizing the facilities of the old air base and airport and that he wants to see continued efforts in this area.

"I would like to see full effort be made also to improve on the utilization of the air base," he said.

Fergusen is an engineer at Yankee Hill Brick Co. and is vice president of Fergusen and Co., a firm which manages farms in Nebraska and Wisconsin.

He is a member of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, the Elks and Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

Fergusen is married and has two children.

Panel Named For Locating New NU Dean

A committee of faculty and students has been named to locate a permanent dean for the University of Nebraska College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Henry F. Holtzclaw of the department of chemistry will serve as committee chairman, according to NU President Joseph Soshnik.

Other members include Dr. Walter J. Centouri, Romance languages department; R. Neale Copple, School of Journalism; Dr. Carl E. Georgi, microbiology department; Dr. David Levine, psychology department; Jerome B. McKinney, political science department; John Moran, School of Music; Dr. Paul A. Olson, English department, and Dr. Samuel B. Treves, geology department.

Dr. C. Peter Magrath. former Arts and Sciences dean and the new universitv dean of faculties, will serve as exofficio member.

Deans of the four undergraduate colleges — Agriculture and Home Economics, Engineering and Architecture, Business Administration and Teachers — will appoint representatives to the committee. Dr. Wallace Peterson, department of economics, has already been appointed to represent the College of Business Administration.

In addition, two Arts and Sciences students, Rosalie Kay Bradley of Axtell and Mary Lynne Nelson of Albion, will serve on the committee.

Dr. Robert Hough, associate dean of the college, will serve as dean until Sept. 1, 1970, or until a permanent dean is appointed.

C. A. Bates Says He Plans To Run For City Council

C. A. Bates, 68, of 200 W. Saunders, announced Friday he will seek election on the City Council this spring.

Bates, a frequent candidate for public office, has been a critic of the city on its planning activities and ther practices.

A Democrat, he has run for governor, county commissioner and state senator in previous elections.

Bates was an unsuccessful candidate for county commissioner in 1958 and 1966, for governor in 1960 and 1964, and for the Unicameral in 1968.

He has been a staunch opponent of the city's having zoning control within the three-mile area outside the city limits.

Advisory Panel On Aging Honors Three Lincolnites

Three Lincolnites have been presented commendation awards from the State Advisory Committee on Aging for their outstanding contributions "to improving the quality of life for the older Nebraskan."

Honored citizens are Jim Fras, senior citizens coordinator for the City Recreation Department; Mrs. Rachel Smith, director of the Lincoln Senior Citizens Center, and the Rev. Bert Bessire, a member of the board of trustees of Lincoln Manor.

The committee expects to recognize 100 Nebraskans between now and the end of May, the month Gov. Norbert Tiemann has proclaimed as "Senior Citizens Month."

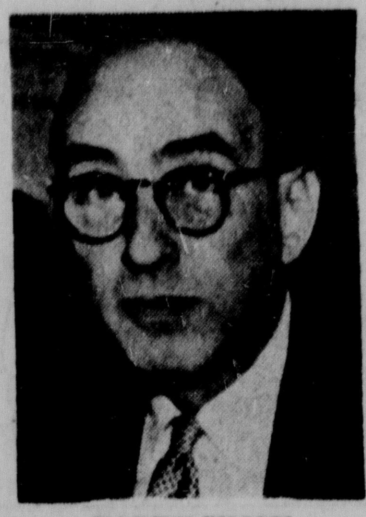
Madras, India (AP) — Two young men committed suicide because they were distraught over the death of C. N. Annadurai, chief minister of Nadu state, authorities said.



HARRY SIMON

Harry Simon Enters City Council Race

Harry Simon, 64, of 1111 Piedmont, filed Friday for election to the City Council.

Simon, who is chairman of the board of Ben Simon & Sons, said he would like to share in seeing Lincoln continue to grow and prosper.

"I am particularly anxious that Lincoln be the kind of city which attracts the young and causes them to say, 'I want to stay and live in Lincoln'," he said.

He said he would never have thought of running for City Council if the three councilmen — John Comstock, Carroll Thompson and Lloyd Hinkley — whose present terms are expiring had chosen to run again. All three councilmen have said they will not seek re-election.

"I have a great deal of faith in the future of Lincoln, and believe we are on the threshold of a real economic explosion and a fantastic growth in population," Simon said.

A lifelong resident of Lincoln, he is on the board of directors and executive committee of Bryan Memorial Hospital and is also chairman of the building and finance committee of the hospital.

Simon has also been past president of the Community Chest and vice president of the Lincoln Foundation.

"I'm grateful to those who. throughout the years, have given so much of their time and energy to this city's governmental affairs. For this reason, I feel it is my duty to attempt to repay them by giving of my own energies in working for the continuance of good government in Lincoln," he said.

Simon is a member of the South Street Temple, a life member of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and a board member of the Alcohol Information Center.

R. Hartsock, 36, Files For City Council

A Lincoln attorney and former FBI agent filed Friday as a candidate for the City Council in the primary election.

Richard Hartsock, 36, of 918 Mulder Dr., said he considers Lincoln a "fine city," but he said there are things which could be done to make it a better place to live.

"I am seeking a position on the City Council because I believe I can make a substantial contribution to the effort to improve our community," Hartsock said.

He is affiliated with the law firm of Muffley and Hartsock.

RICHARD HARTSOCK

"I have no ties to any group or special interest. I believe I can effectively represent all citizens in this city," he said.

He is presently a member of the Lincoln City Library Board and is making his first attempt for an elective office.

"I hope during the campaign that I will have the opportunity to inform the voters about my general philosophy of city government and discuss specific issues which are of interest to any segment of our community," Hartsock said.

He has been active in the Sertoma Club, American Legion, Heart Association, Chamber of Commerce and the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

SELMER A. SOLHEIM

S. Solheim Enters Race For Council

Selmer Solheim, 56, of 1301 'J St., filed Friday as a candidate for the Lincoln City Council in the spring primary election.

Solheim, an architect in Lincoln since 1939, said he is interested in getting new business for Lincoln and helping existing businesses grow.

"I also intend to work for a ways and means of having preventative maintenance on our streets," he said.

Solheim is owner of Selmer A. Solheim and Associates and a member of professional architectural societies.

He is the past president of the Millard Lefler Junior High School PTA and is a University of Nebraska graduate.

Solheim is a member of the University Club, Norden Club, Triangle engineering fraternity and Christ Lutheran Church.

He is married and has four children.

Donald H. Shriner Completes Filing

Donald H. Shriner, 44, of 5720 Normal Blvd., completed filing for election to the Lincoln Board of Education Friday.

Shriner is president of Shriner Association Management Inc., a management and public relations firm.

Former executive director of the Nebraska Centennial Commission, Shriner is founder and secretary-treasurer of Agricultural Careers Inc.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

NORTHEAST BID THWARTED

—CLASS C—

Elkhorn, St. Cecilia To Clash

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Top-seeded Cambridge found out that seeded teams don't always win and Hastings St. Cecilia, the state's top-rated pre-tourney Class C team, got a reprieve from that same fate Friday night in the semifinals of the State Class C Basketball Tournament at Pershing Auditorium.

Elkhorn routed Cambridge, 68-37, using several Trojan scoring lapses to do it and Hastings St. Cecilia had to overcome a six-point Wausa lead in the final minute and seven seconds to edge the Vikings, 70-69.

St. Cecilia and Elkhorn will battle for the Class C championship at 6:30 tonight at the University of Nebraska Coliseum.

Wausa held a 69-63 lead over St. Cecilia with only 1:07 remaining in the game, but three clutch free throws by Tom Mullen, two more by Mike Korth and fielder by Bill Ashburn provided the victory.

It was Mullen's final two free throws with 17 seconds left that made the difference.

Trailing, 68-69, with 19 seconds remaining, Wuasa's Les Thierolf missed the first free throw of a one-and-one situation.

Mullen was fouled by John Anderson as the two fought for the rebound and Mullen calmly connected on both ends

Thierolf's shot with five seconds left missed, giving the Blue Hawks the berth in tonight's finals.

Cambridge never led in its contest, failing to score for the first five minutes of the game, then rallying to a 21-all halftime deadlock, only to have another scoring lapse at the start of the second half put them behind again, 27-21.

The Trojans again fought back, narrowing the margin to 28-27 with 5:10 left in the third quarter on a jump shot by Jeff Mollring, but that was the closest they came.

With the outside shooting of guards Lynn Spilman and Pat Gottsch and the rebounding and scoring inside of Scott Feller and Jack Wesolowski doing the work, Elkhorn moved to a 44-29 third-quarter edge.

The lid then closed for good on the Cambridge basket in the fourth quarter and the Trojans didn't score a point in the final 5:54 of the game, wrapping it up for Elkhorn.

Brad McArdle led Elkhorn with 14 points, while Ben Desmond's 17 was high for Cambridge.

Central, Prep In 'A' Finals

. . . SCOTTSBLUFF ROUTED

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Two-time defending state Class A champion Lincoln Northeast, riding the crest of a 30-game winning streak, stretching back to the middle of last season, was denied the chance to try for a third straight title, something no team in history has done before, when Omaha Central stopped the Rockets, 66-56, at Pershing Auditorium Friday afternoon.

Creighton Prep joins Central for an all-Omaha finals in the big school division after smothering Scottsbluff in the other semifinal contest at the NU Coliseum, 67-40. The title tilt will be played in the Coliseum at noon today.

Northeast ran into a quintet of jumping jacks from Central. It was the Rockets' inability to control the backboards that spelled doom for coach Ed Johnson's club.

The game was actually decided in the first quarter, although Northeast later muffed several opportunities to get back into contention.

With the score tied at three apiece, Calvin Forrest went on a scoring spree to push the Eagles out in front 9-3, and they were never headed.

His three straight baskets all came on offensive rebounds. The first one on a fourth consecutive try, while the Rockets jumped helplessly alongside. The next two were sensational tipins of teammates' errant shots.

Northeast trailed 17-12 at the first-quarter break and by seven during the second stanza, yet fought back to within two points at 29-27 just before halftime. But a pair of free throws and two more tipins by Central, the last by Forrest off a missed free throw, gave the Eagles a 33-27 halftime edge.

In each of the final two periods Northeast was two points shy of the Central total as it continued to lose ground. The Eagles actually opened up their game-ending 10-point spread as early as midway through the third period at 40-30, and had their biggest margin, 13 points, late in the final frame at 63-50.

Forrest and Lee Harris, at 6-4 and 6-3, each had 16 rebounds and Central as a team had a 13-carom advantage for the game.

Scottsbluff was in its game with Prep only briefly. Before things really got started Prep was out in front 13-4 and held a 17-6 first-quarter margin.

The winning Junior Jays threw up a half-court zone press defense against Scottsbluff, and the Bearcats were unable to come up with an offensive solution.

Gary Bauer garnered Scottsbluff's only field goals for the entire first half until Tom Engleman threw in one at the intermission buzzer.

Scottsbluff came out with a renewed attack in the second half to outscore Prep 15-11, but after three quarters of play Prep still held a commanding 46-31 lead.

Then coach Tom Brosnihan's Jays went on a real point-producing rampage. They tallied 15 points while the Bearcats managed but a single free throw, making the count 61-32. The contest was over except for recording the final score.

Crete, Cozad Earn Berths In 'B' Finals

. . . SYRACUSE, BERGAN LOSE SEMIFINAL MATCHES

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Crete and Cozad made their way into the championship game of the state Class B High School Basketball Tournament with hard-earned victories in the semifinals at the NU Coliseum Friday night.

Crete (19-2) won the rubber game of a three-game season series with Syracuse, 60-53, while Cozad (16-4) whipped Fremont Bergan, 66-56, in the nightcap to set up the finals, slated for 8:15 at the Coliseum tonight.

Big Dave Drevo was the difference for Crete as the Cardinals avenged a one-point setback. They had beaten Syracuse by two points in a rematch. Drevo had 27 points and 22 rebounds as the Redbirds overcame a seven-point second-quarter disadvantage.

Cozad trailed Bergan for 17 minutes until the Fremont five went cold in the second half, canning only 5-for-29. The Haymakers broke a 50-all tie with six minutes left on seven straight points, the last five on free throws, and were never headed.

Crete trailed Syracuse, 17-10, after Dennis Royal hit a layup for the Rockets at the start of the second quarter but baskets by Drevo and Mike Shangreaux, who hit three fielders in the second stanza, pulled Crete from a 24-all deadlock and the Cards never trailed again.

Crete built an eight-point lead early in the third round before Syracuse cut the gap to two points three different times as Clark Gartner hit six of the Rockets' last eight points in that period.

Syracuse was still very much alive, trailing only 42-40 as the final eight minutes began, but Crete outscored the Rockets 8-2 to build a 50-42 margin that held firm. Drevo fired in two fielders, Maynard Schnell a jumper and Shangreaux a scooping drive shot in the vital Crete burst.

Most of Drevo's buckets were on turn-around jumpers, but he also added three tip-ins and John Nosky provided a couple of others for his only buckets. Shangreaux added 12 and John Hrdlicka 10 points for Crete, while Royal canned 18 and Gartner 16 for Syracuse.

Breaking men loose underneath the basket in their big third-quarter comeback shot Cozad back in the game after the Southwest Conference club trailed by as much as nine points, 27-18, midway of the second stanza.

Terry Headley got free for two layups underneath and Dave Cochran another for six straight points that gave Cozad a 43-40 lead with two minutes remaining in the third set, which found Cozad holding a 45-44 edge as it ended.

Two lead changes and two ties featured the early going in the final quarter before Mike Sitorius hit a three-point play for Cozad to break a 50-50 tie and the Haymakers added four more free throws for a commanding seven-point margin. Altogether, 20 fouls were called in the last quarter.

Loren Navratil hit four straight medium-range jumpers to give Bergan 12-6 lead halfway through the opening quarter. He led Bergan with 19, while Headley scored 24 and Jack Lawless 18 to spark Cozad's effort.

Syracuse ends with an 18-6 record and Bergan closes at 18-7.

Jets Show Yutan Why They Feed Cal

. . . STERLING, CLARKS PASS CLASS D SEMIFINAL TESTS

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Sterling likes to get the ball to big Cal Christline and the reason for doing so was obvious at the NU Coliseum Friday afternoon.

Christline, a 6-6 standout for the Jets, was in top form as he scored 28 points to carry Sterling into the finals of the State Class D Basketball Tournament with a 60-46 victory over Yutan.

The finals, slated for 1:45 this afternoon at the Coliseum, match Sterling against Clarks, a 72-64 winner over Shickley in the other Class D semifinal at Pershing Auditorium.

"We were just trying to move the ball in to Christline," said Sterling coach Larry Rathe, "and we didn't have much trouble doing it."

The evidence was clear in this respect. Christline had the ball a good deal of the time, particularly in the first half, and he knew what to do with it.

Christline pumped in 20 of Sterling's 33 first-half points to give the Jets a 33-24 advantage at intermission. All 20 points were from the field as he connected on 10 of 20 shots.

Despite Christline's early sharpshooting Yutan stayed in the thick of it, holding leads of 22-21 and 24-23 midway through the second quarter.

But that was it for Yutan as the Jets reeled off 10 straight to boost the count to the 33-24 halftime tally. Christline had six of the 10, while Galen Boldt and Paul Goldenstein chipped in a bucket apiece.

The Jets were in command the rest of the way with Yutan threatening only once when a pesky full-court press brought them within eight at 49-41 and at 51-43 midway through the fourth period.

But the Chieftains could come no closer as the Jets poured it on in the closing moments to run up the final 60-46 tally.

About the only thing Rathe wasn't satisfied with was his Jets' free throw shooting (6 for 12), but the Chieftains were no better at the line as they hit just 8 of 16.

"We didn't make some free shots we should have," Rathe said, "But they (Yutan) missed a lot of one-and-one opportunities."

In fact, in the second quarter alone the Chieftains failed to cash in on the front end of five one-and-one free throw opportunities.

Christline's best support came from Boldt who finished with 13, while the Chieftains' top point-producer was Rick Heldt, who potted 19 to bow out of the tourney with 41 points. He hit 22 in Thursday's first-round win over Chappell.

Christline has 45 tourney points entering this afternoon's finals.

Clarks had a bit rougher time against the stubborn Shickley quintet.

The Pershing contest was knotted four times in the early going before Clarks pulled out to a 19-14 first-quarter advantage.

A 35-foot shot at the halftime buzzer by Shickley's Dallas Schlegel brought his team witin three at 37-34.

Shickley knotted the score twice in the third period and took its only lead at 48-47, but Clarks climbed back in the driver's seat after that.

Leading 50-48 entering the fourth quarter, the winners darted to a 64-54 advantage and were never threatened again.

Mark Stutko's 17 points were high for Clarks, which had five players in double figures, despite a poor free-throw shooting performance (16 for 37).

Lonnie Benson gunned in 10 from outside and hit a pair of free throws to pace Shickley with 22 points.

Greene Runs 5.5 — In 50

Moscow (AP) — Mamie Rallins of Chicago tied the world record for the women's indoor 50-meter hurdles and sprinter Charlie Greene of Lincoln, Neb., matched the season's best mark in the men's 50-meter dash Friday as the United States got off to a quick early lead over the Soviet Union in an international track and field meet.

Miss Rallins won the hurdle event at Luzhniki Sports Palace in 7.1 seconds. Galina Kuznetsova of the Soviet Union was second in 7.2, followed by another Russian, Galina Bystrova, 7.3.

Greene, who shares the world record in the 100-meter dash, exploded at the start and won the men's sprint in 5.5. His teammate, Bill Gaines of San Jose, Calif., also was clocked in 5.5 but was nipped at the wire. Vladislav Sapea of Russia was third, a tenth of a second slower.

Huskers' Burgher Triple Jump King

Detroit (AP) — Nebraska's Lennox Burgher soared 52 feet, one-half inch to capture the triple jump title and teammate Clifton Forbes grabbed fourth place in the 440-yard dash in Friday night's opening session of the NCAA Indoor Track Championships.

Burgher easily outdistanced the field to improve on his second-place finish of last year.

Forbes, who led all 440 qualifiers with a 48.9 clocking in the preliminaries, came back with a 48.4 in the finals to grab fourth in the event won by Villanova's Larry James in 47.3.

Olympic 400-meter champion Lee Evans was second in the event, suffering his first loss to James.

Kansas, led by record-breaking shot putter Karl Salb, took a commanding team lead with 25 points. 23 coming in the shot put and long jump. Villanova, which won last year's meet with 35½ points, was second with 15, while Nebraska was tied for third with Southern California and Harvard, each with eight.

Salb smashed the NCAA indoor shot put mark with a toss of 66-8¾ in leading a 1-2-3 Kansas sweep in the event.

The Jayhawks picked up 10 more points with first and second in the long jump, won by Ron Jessie with a leap of 25-2½.

However, the Big Eight indoor champions suffered a disappointment when their great distance star Jim Ryun limped out of the two-mile run and apparently will be lost for the closing session of the 17-event meet, which ends this afternoon.

Ryun, disappointing silver medalist in the Olympic 1,500 meters, surrendered his NCAA two-mile title to Southern California's Ole Oleson in the evening's hottest race on the seven-event opening program.

Invitational Mile run—1, Sam Bair, unattached, 4:01.7 (betters meet record of 4:03.3, Jim Ryun, Kansas, 1966). 2, Dave Patrick, unattached, 4:02.6. 3, Conard Nightingale, Kansas State, 4:04.9. 4, Ergas Leps, unattached, 4:06.2.

Wrestling's 'Big 3' Lead Big 8 Prelims

Ames, Iowa (AP) — College wrestling's "Big Three," Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa State, led the advance in Friday night's preliminary round of the Big Eight Conference wrestling meet here.

Oklahoma State and host Iowa State each qualified 10 men for Saturday afternoon's semifinal round. Oklahoma had eight, Missouri seven, Colorado and Nebraska four each, and Kansas State had one. Kansas does not compete in wrestling.

Points, awarded only for falls, gave Oklahoma State and Oklahoma a tie for the lead in team scoring with four points each while Iowa State with two points was the only other school to score.

The Cyclones' only defeat came when heavyweight Wayne Beske lost on riding time to Missouri's Bob Knudsen, 3-2.

Dale Dittmar, unheralded Colorado 137-pounder, beat Eddie Griffin of Oklahoma State, 6-5, for another surprise.

Missouri's 115-pound Steve Cavanaugh was upset by Joe Orta of Nebraska 14-5.

Oklahoma's victories by pin included 132-pound Dave McGuire against Jim Barrett of Kansas State in 7:11; 167-pound Larry Laush against Dave Wieland of Kansas State in 1:32; 177-pound Charlie Shivers against Ron Tacha of Kansas State in 2:36; and heavyweight Bill Luttrell against Tom Keller of Kansas State in 4:46.

Oklahoma State's pins were registered by 152-pound Jay Arneson over Danny Thomas of Kansas State in 4:10; 177-pound Gerald Winnard over Jim Haug of Nebraska in 1:39; 191-pound Geoffrey Baum over Bill Keller of Kansas State in 4:02; and heavyweight John Ward over Don Popplewell of Colorado in 3:02.

Team scoring:

Oklahoma 4, Oklahoma State 4, Iowa State 2, Kansas State 0, Colorado 0, Missouri 0, Nebraska 0.

BIG STRETCH . . . Crete's Dave Hrdlicka (52) and Syracuse's Doug Severs (45) stretch for ball.

—TILT WAS CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TO SYRACUSE COACH—

Cards Slowed, But Not Stopped

By DANA PARSONS
Star Sports Writer

A subdued but gracious Roger Witt stood outside the Syracuse locker room Friday night after his Rockets had dropped a 60-53 struggle with Crete and speculated on what might have been for his team.

"In my mind, I'll always feel this game was the championship game," he said.

Syracuse had split two previous games with Crete, winning 66-65 and losing 51-49. "We went into this game with a lot of spirit. It was a real hard fought game with a lot of defense out there tonight."

Witt felt that a couple of fast break layups in the second quarter gave Crete the necessary momentum but also hastened to single out Crete's Dave Drevo as a night-long thorn in the Rockets' side.

"Drevo did a real fine job," the Syracuse mentor noted. "I definitely feel he is the key to their chances tomorrow."

Winning coach Walt Harris of Crete, who is happiest when his team is running, was far from disappointed even though his charges did not set the fast break tempo he likes.

"We didn't do as much running as we like to do, but credit their defense for that," Harris said.

He was hard-pressed to pinpoint a key to the game but acknowledged that it might have been the Cardinals' spurt in the second quarter when they scored on a couple of fast breaks and established a lead.

Drevo, who scored 27 points and grabbed 22 rebounds, was a happy young man in the locker room, but agreed with his coach that the Cardinals did not run as much as they like to.

The 6-5 senior center had nothing but compliments for Syracuse center, Dennis Royal. "He doesn't look real good," Drevo said, "but really he's terrific. If you don't watch him, he's deadly."

Drevo made it clear that Crete would not be over-confident for the championship game although the Cardinals are now stamped as the team to beat for the Class B crown.

"We were 18-0 last year and got beat and we don't want it to happen again," Drevo said. "Am I glad Schuyler is out of the tournament? Well, I have some personal friends there and I feel sorry for them, but we'd rather not play 'em as long as they're out."

Harris, when asked how he would try to lessen the tension for his boys today before the championship game, said "I'd put 'em in school if I could."

Witt, who like Harris is in his fourth year as head coach at his school, had no complaints about the season. "I'm well pleased," he said. "We came a long way and had an 18-6 record — a real good year."

Mets Forget Their Place, Blast Cards

. . . 22 HITS IN 16-6 WIN

By Associated Press

The lowly New York Mets showed total disdain for St. Louis' National League champions Friday, pounding the Cardinals 16-6 in exhibition baseball.

The Mets collected 22 hits with rookie Amos Otis smashing two doubles and a homer and driving in four runs. New York scored seven runs on nine hits in the first inning as the first six batters hit safely against Dave Giusti.

The Mets-Cards slugfest was contrasted by Minnesota's 1-0 victory over Atlanta. The only run of the game came on Frank Quilici's eighth-inning homer. Chuck Manuel had a pair of doubles and Rod Carew a pair of singles for the Twins, who have won four straight.

Washington's exhibition losing streak stretched to eight with Montreal tagging Ted Williams' Senators 3-1. Jim "Mudcat" Grant made his debut for the Expos and hurled three scoreless innings.

Luis Tiant, a 21-game winner last year, became the first Cleveland pitcher to work six innings as the Indians downed the Seattle Pilots 4-2 for their fifth straight victory. Tiant allowed one run on four hits.

Billy Conigliaro, Tony's brother, smacked two singles and drove in three runs, helping Boston beat Pittsburgh 7-4. Jim Bunning, in his first appearance of the spring for the Pirates, worked two hitless innings.

Ron Hansen and rookie Bill Melton hammered home runs, powering the Chicago White Sox to a 9-3 victory over Los Angeles. Bill Sudakis homered for the Dodgers.

George Culver pitched four shutout innings and Cincinnati tagged Houston with its fourth straight loss, 5-2.

In other games, Detroit dropped Philadelphia 4-2, San Diego rapped Oakland 8-4 and San Francisco walloped California 13-1.

Marcelino Lopez pitched five hitless innings for Baltimore and the Orioles tagged the New York Yankees 5-2 in a night game. Frank Robinson and Boog Powell hammered Baltimore home runs.

Tennessee Gets Past Rutgers '5' By 67-51

New York (AP) — Tennessee pulled ahead early on the scoring of Bob Croft and then polished off Rutgers 67-51 with a barrage of free throws Friday night in the nightcap of a first-round doubleheader in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

Gerry McKee, Greg McDivitt and John Canine squeezed Ohio University past West Texas State 82-80 in the see-saw opener at Madison Square Garden.

Wayne State Mentor Given NAIA Award

Kansas City (AP) — Wayne State Coach Dave Gunther was chosen NAIA area coach of the year Friday by the NAIA Basketball Coaches Association.

The award was made at the NAIA annual Hall of Fame Banquet.

Malaysian Lead Held By Phillips

Kuala Lampur (AP) — Australian Frank Phillips fired a 71 Friday and held his lead in the Malaysian Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole score of 138.

He had a stroke edge over Kenji Hosoishi of Japan, 73-66, and Shigeru Uchida of Japan, 70-69. John Lister of New Zealand also matched the best score of the day — a 66 — and was in a five-way tie at 140.

Bog Gadja of Detroit, who opened with a 69, skied to a 78 for 147. Another American pro, Robert Unger, was at 142 and John Felus trailed at 147.

Rushville Grid Coach Submits Resignation

Rushville (UPI) — Jim Simones, head football coach at Rushville High School this past year, Friday announced he would resign at the end of the current school year.

Simones, 30, had a 4-5 record in his only year as coach here. He previously coached at Exeter and Shelton.

Kaat Accepts $55,000

Orlando, Fla. (AP) — Left-handed pitcher Jim Kaat, who had asked to be traded if his $60,000 contract demand wasn't met, signed Friday with Minnesota for an estimated $55,000.

Ex-Collegians Pace Monsanto Open

. . . JONES CLOSE TO LEAD

Pensacola, Fla. (AP) — Dick Crawford, who has never led in a tournament in seven years on the pro tour, shot a sizzling 67 Friday to seize a one-stroke lead after the second round of the $100,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole total of 135.

The 29-year-old two-time NCAA champion, who started the second round one shot off the pace, psyched the par 71 Pensacola Country Club course with six birdies.

His performance gave him a one-stroke margin over Lee Trevino, who shared the first-round lead; Ken Still; rookie Grier Jones; Ray Floyd, and Jim Colbert.

Crawford, whose best finishes have been second at Atlanta in 1967 and second in the Mexico Open in 1963, said he had an idea he was close to the front after the 15th hole.

"I just prayed I could keep playing well," said the former University of Houston golf star. He pointed out the turning point of his round could have come on the third hole, where he scrambled for a par 4 with an 18-foot putt after hitting into the woods.

Jones, 22, described by one PGA official "the next Arnold Palmer," fired his second straight 68.

The tousled-haired Wichita, Kan., pro, the 1968 NCAA champion from Oklahoma State, joined the tour last November. His best finish this year was a tie for 14th at the rain-shortened Kaiser Open. He missed the cut at Doral and Orlando, the first stops on the rich Florida circuit.

"I watched him (Jones) at our tournament players school," the official said. "The kid handles himself awfully well and attacks the course just like Arnie does."

Prep, Crete, Saints, Jets Title Picks

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The semifinal round of the state high school basketball tournaments left eight clubs on the firing line to battle for the four titles today at the NU Coliseum.

Omaha Central, runnerup to Lincoln Northeast the past two years, gained additional momentum with a victory over the Rockets, after sidelining highly-regarded Omaha Westside the day before. But Class A finals foe Creighton Prep also looks ready for the title tilt after completely smothering Scottsbluff.

Crete and Cozad will clash for the Class B crown, while No. 1 rated Hastings St. Cecilia, which got a reprieve from the grave against Wausa, will meet Elkhorn. St. Cecilia overcame a six-point deficit in the final minute to top Wausa by one.

Sterling continues to be the cream of the small school crop, although the Jets may get a stiff argument from Clarks.

Our forecast for the final day:

Class A

Creighton Prep over Omaha Central — Prep won the only meeting between the two earlier in the year, but the basis for the pick is defense. No one in the tourney has been able to slow the flashy Eagle offense. Prep is capable of doing so, as evidenced by the way the Junior Jays shut off Scottsbluff. If they do, Central will become the bridesmaid for the third straight year.

Class B

Crete over Cozad — Crete is hungry to avenge last seasons faux pas, when the Cardinals won 18 in a row, then failed to make the state meet after an upset loss at district. Cozad's biggest problem will be trying to match Crete on the boards. The lack of height will spell the difference.

Class C

Hastings St. Cecilia over Elkhorn — St. Cecilia is lucky to be in the finals, and this could be the closest of the four, as coach Gene Kruger's Antlers appear more organized, better disciplined and more free of tourney pressure than any other team in the Class C division. But the tougher regular season schedule, which included 13 Class B foes, acts in St. Cecilia's favor.

Class D

Sterling over Clarks — The Jets haven't been pressed in the tourney to date and Clarks won't be able to stay with Sterling either. Sterling, a runnerup in Class C last year, has too many horses. Returning all-stater Cal Christline is just one. The Jets' balanced attack should carry them through.

JFK Girls Win Marathon Battle

Des Moines, Ia. — The John F. Kennedy Patriettes needed four overtimes but finally subdued Midwestern of Denison, Ia., 80-64 Friday in a four-team AAU-sanctioned tournament.

Lois Stufflick scored 46 points as the JFK girls pushed their season record to 17-2 with their third triumph this year over Midwestern.

JFK	17	12	16	11	2	2	4	16—80
Midwestern	12	15	13	16	2	2	4	0—64

JFK—Stufflick 46, Olson 13, Wolfe 10, Wilberson 6, Klett 4, Conrad 1.

Midwestern—Mosier 34, Wilson 15, Bowser 9, Berlin 13, Pertesron 2, Jensen 1.

UCLA Faces Big Test With Santa Clara Today

. . . INJURIES HIT NCAA TOURNEY TEAMS

By Associated Press

It's one down and three to go for UCLA in its bid for a record third straight NCAA basketball championship.

But the second game could be the toughest for the defending champions.

If the Bruins don't get by once-beaten Santa Clara in today's regional final there won't be any third or fourth games for the nation's No. 1 team.

It depends on the condition of Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot-1½, three-time All-American.

The towering New Yorker twisted his right ankle after scoring 16 points in leading the Bruins to a 53-38 victory over New Mexico State in the semifinals of the Far West regional at Los Angeles.

The early report was that the injury wasn't serious, but coach Johnny Wooden said he was awaiting a late Friday afternoon examination to determine Lew's exact condition. The Friday layoff was a break for Alcindor and UCLA.

Even with a healthy Alcindor, the Bruins could be in for a stiff battle from Santa Clara, third-ranked and 27-1. The Broncos nipped Weber State's surprisingly tough, unranked underdogs, 63-59, in overtime Thursday night.

North Carolina's beaten finalists of last year; Purdue and Davidson also have injury problems for the final games of the regional tournaments today.

The four winning teams will go on to Louisville, Ky., where the semifinals will be held Thursday, March 20, and the finals, Saturday, March 22.

Here is today's lineup, showing records, rankings, and starting times, EST:

EAST REGIONAL
At College Park, Md.
North Carolina, 26-3, No 4, vs. Davidson, 27-2, No. 5, 2:15 p.m.
MIDEAST REGIONAL
At Madison, Wis.
Purdue, 21-4, No. 6, vs. Marquette, 24-4, No. 14, 4:05 p.m.
MIDWEST REGIONAL
At Manhattan, Kan.
Drke, 24-4, No. 11, vs. Colorado State U., 18-6, unranked, 4:15 p.m.
FAR WEST REEGIONAL
At Los Angeles
UCLA, 26-1, No. 1, vs. Santa Clara, 27-1, No. 3, 6:05 p.m.

The Thursday games at Louisville match the East and Mideast winners and the Midwest and Far West winners.

Thus a return final between UCLA and North Carolina is likely. UCLA trounced the Tar Heels 78-55 last year as Alcindor scored 34 points.

The UCLA-Santa Clara survivor will meet the winner of the Midwest final between Colorado State U., the Cinderella team of the tourney, and Drake at Manhattan, Kan.

Colorado State whipped Colorado 64-56 in the first head-to-head athletic meeting in 10 years of the feuding schools, while Drake trounced Texas A&M, 81-63 Thursday. day.

In the other regional openers Thursday night, Davidson tumbled St. John's, N.Y. 79-69 and North Carolina edged Duquesne 79-78 on sub Lee Dedmon's two baskets in the final 28 seconds at College Park, Md.; and Marquette upset seventh ranked Kentucky 81-75 while Purdue mauled Miami, Ohio, 91-71 at Madison, Wis.

Purdue lost center Chuck Davis, who suffered a shoulder injury in the win over Miami. It will put more pressure on Rick Mount, the Boilermakers' All-American who scored 32 points in the opener.

Davidson may have lost Wayne Huckel for Saturday's game although the 6-3 senior guard says "I'll play."

Huckel suffered a knee injury just before the half against St. John's. It turned out fortunately for Davidson, however. John Warren, St. John's leading scorer, had tallied 16 points in the first half. Then Mike O'Neill, a 6-5 senior, subbed for Huckel and held Warren to just two points the rest of the way.

North Carolina beat Duquesne without hospitalized Dick Gruber. The senior starter probably won't be ready for Davidson.

His loss gave another sub a chance for a starring role. Dedmon, the 6-10 sophomore who replaced him, took two passes from Olympic star Charlie Scott and converted them into the winning field goals in the final seconds against Duquesne.

A year ago North Carolina beat Davidson 70-66 in the regional final. Once again, a couple of New Yorkers, Mike Maloy of Davidson and Scott, will be the key players. Maloy scored a career high 35 points against St. John's. Scott led the Tar Heels with 22 points and superb playmaking.

Drake, CSU Tutors Refute Reputations

. . . NCAA BERTH ON LINE TODAY

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Coaches Maury John of Drake and Jim Williams of Colorado State University do not agree with the labels placed on their basketball teams, which collide here this afternoon for a berth in the NCAA tournament finals.

Drake, soaring along with an 11-game winning streak and 24-4 for the season, has been tabbed a run-and-shoot team — partly an extension of the image of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Colorado State, the NCAA tournament's surprise team, has been cast as a ball-control club.

Both labels are partly true. But when the two teams meet at 3:15 p.m., CST., today for the Midwest regional championship, both sides are adaptable enough that anything may happen.

About the labeling, Williams says, Drake is probably the most patient team you'll see. Sure, they can run and shoot, but they can also play a paterned offense when they need to control the game. And they play very good man-for-man defense."

John says of the Rams, "Colorado State has speed and quickness. They can move if they want to, and they've got some excellent shooters."

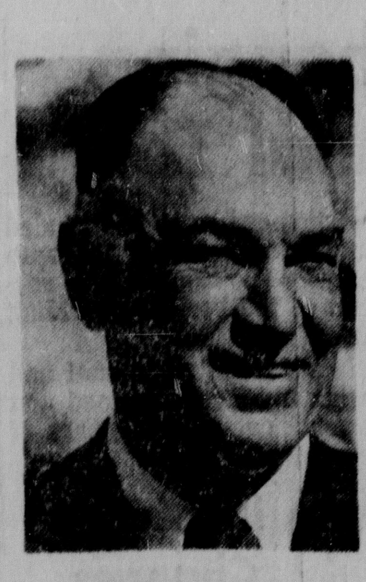
Drake is regarded as the favorite, but any handicapping is risky because of Colorado State's recent accomplishments.

The Rams, who did not play in a conference this season but are joining the Western Athletic Conference next year, lost their last three regular season games to bring a 16-6 record into the tournament.

However, they stunned 1968 National Invitational Tournament champion Dayton 52-50, in a first round NCAA game. Then the Rams polished off Big Eight Conference champoin Colorado, 64-56, in Thursday night's semifinals here.

Drake, co-champion of the Missouri Valley, tied Louisville for the crown, then whipped the Cardinals, 77-73, in a playoff game. The Bulldogs gained the regional finals here by beating Texas A&M, 81-63.

Texas A&M and Colorado play for third place at 1 p.m. today.



BEN HOGAN

Another Miracle Needed By Hogan

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Ben Hogan, whose gritty recovery from a near fatal automobile accident in 1949 earned him three U.S. Open championships and the admiration of the golfing world, is looking for another miracle.

Pain strikes the 56-year-old Hogan each time he swings a club because of an old shoulder injury incurred in the accident.

"I don't think I will play this year unless I can find a miracle and those are pretty hard to find," Hogan told The Associated Press.

The shoulder has undergone surgery twice — the latest in New Orleans late last year. Doctors cut away calcium and tissue.

"I can do everything but play golf," Hogan says.

Hogan went to New Orleans recently for a checkup, hoping for some word of encouragement.

"They corrected what they went in there to do," said Hogan, "and the doctor told me I could play golf when I felt like it. I just wish I could see some daylight up ahead. I sure hate to keep getting cut on.

"I've tried hitting some balls and there is no way I can play decent golf," he says. "The Masters is definitely out."

Barbara Jo NY's 'First Lady'

. . .GAL JOCKEY FIRST TO RIDE, WIN AT NY TRACK

By Associated Press

Barbara Jo Rubin easily won the third race at Aqueduct Friday on Bravy Galaxy, a filly, thereby becoming the first woman to ride a horse on a New York race track.

The crowd of 20,000 gave her a big cheer and the nine other jockeys in the race wished her luck at the gate. Bravy Galaxy, something of an outsider, paid backers $28.20, $10.60, and $5.40.

"The horse was alert at the gate and went out to the lead," said the pert 19-year-old after the five furlong test for 3-year-old maiden fillies. "In the stretch I hit her once, and she swerved. I straightened her up and she went on to win."

She's Rich was second, two lengths back.

Miss Rubin was asked how she equated riding and being a lady, and she replied primly: "Outside of riding, I am a lady."

She observed that "you learn something from every race. This time I learned to relax at the gate. I have a lot to learn but I feel I am as qualified as any apprentice around."

Miss Rubin previously had won at Pimlico and Charles Town. She is riding tonight at Charles Town.

Bravy Galaxy is owned by D. Forrest Lawson and trained by Howard Jacobson. Miss Rubin was given a round of applause when she kissed Jacobson after the race.

The winner's time was 1:00, which was for a dull track. Bravy Galaxy was sixth choice in the field of 10 at 13.

Male jockeys stood at the rail and cheered Barbara Jo throughout the race. One of the most vociferous was Angel Cordero Jr., who cheered in Spanish.

After the race, the riders subjected Miss Rubin to the traditional ceremony, reserved for all first-time New York winners.

A pail of cold water was thrown over Barbara Jo's head. Then Barbara Jo put the pail over her head for the benefit of photographers, smiling broadly.

Omaha Gets 23 Prospects

Fort Myers, Fla. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals took time out from their exhibition game schedule Friday, but remained busy with an intrasquad game. That was followed by the shifting of 23 players to the other side of the complex where Omaha of the American Association will work under manager Jack McKeon.

The Royals, who take on the New York Mets Saturday in A and B games at St. Petersburg, shifted 13 pitchers, reducing their total with the major league club to 20.

"This isn't exactly a cut," said Royals manager Joe Gordon. "We are scheduling some other B games and some other games against Triple A teams. We want them to do more pitching."

Among those moved to Omaha, the Royals' Triple A farm club were Don O'Riley, Allan Fitzmorris and Ike Brookens, all right-handed pitchers on the major league roster who were selected in the expansion draft.

Orlanda Pena, Tracy Stallard and John Miller, veteran right-handers bidding to return to the majors, also went to Omaha.

Bill Haynes, first basemen, and outfielder-infielder Scott Nirthey were the other players on the major league roster to switch clubhouses. Both were picked in the expansion draft.

Julian Javier Signs

St. Louis (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced second baseman Julian Javier signed his 1969 contract and began practice Friday at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The reluctant Javier went to St. Petersburg a week ago to sign but changed his mind and went back to his home in the Dominican Republic.

Prep Coach Gets Maryland Post

College Park, Md. (AP) —The University of Maryland, seeking again to revive gridiron glories, named Roy Lester Friday as its fourth head football coach in five years.

Lester, highly successful high school coach from nearby Rockville, Md., was picked to succeed Bob Ward, who resigned last week in the face of a player rebellion.

Jim Kehoe, Maryland's athletic director-designate who introduced Lester at a news conference, declined to reveal the salary or the length of the contract. But it is believed that Lester would be paid about the same $20,000 salary received by Ward.

Lester, 44, said he had twice previously applied for the Maryland job, and said if he did not measure up to the position, "I would take myself out of it."

Lester said he did not anticipate any trouble from the Maryland players who objected to playing for Ward and said he would decide on which assistant coaches to retain after conferring with them.

The new Terp coach said his main job "was to get players into the university who can win, and I have already taken a couple of steps in that direction."

Lester previously served as an assistant at Maryland under Tommy Mont in the 1950s.

Not rehired when Tom Nugent replaced Mont, Lester returned to the high school ranks.

In 10 seasons at Richard Montgomery High School in Rockville, Lester's teams lost 10 games — five in 1962 — and ended the 1968 campaign with a 25-game winning streak. His 10-year record was 86-10-1, including 55-3-1 since 1962.

The Terps lost their first 12 games under Ward and compiled a 2-17 record for two seasons.

The players contended they had no confidence in Ward's coaching ability and compiled a list of grievances which they presented to a university committee headed by Kehoe at a closed meeting.

Ward, who had completed the second year of his two-year contract, with a three-year option, resigned without answering the complaints.

Like Ward, Lester will be serving in his first college head coaching post when he takes over the Terps. An end during his playing days at West Virginia University, Lester played for the Mountaineers in the 1949 Sun Bowl game.

Steen Argues Against Bill To Limit Days

A bill limiting the hunting season for pheasants and other upland game birds to 60 days per calendar year drew mixed testimony before the Legislature's Agriculture and Recreation Committee Friday.

Sen. William M. Wylie of Elgin, introducer of LB505, said past hunting seasons of 92 and 78 days have reduced pheasant populations and interfer with agricultural and ranching work.

Support for shorter seasons came from rancher and farmer spokesmen, but Game Commission director Mel Steen said "Nebraska pheasants are not over-hunted."

Steen said determination of hunting seasons should be left to the professionals, and noted the Governor's Little Hoover Commission has recommended length of seasons and other regulations "be taken out of the statutes and put completely in the hands of the commission."

The committee held all bills heard in lengthy public hearing for further study.

Farmers and ranchers lined up in opposition to LB849, which would permit "road hunting of game birds.

Steen said Nebraska doesn't have enough conservation officers to enforce the present law prohibiting road-hunting.

Georgetown U. Decides Against Entering Meets

Washington (AP) — Georgetown University decided Friday against entering its track team in any meets this season.

The University, in a formal statement, gave no explanation but informed sources said the acton stemmed from a dispute between the athletes and coach Steven Benedek.

The track men have objected to Benedek's training methods and in December walked out during the cross country season. In the past few weeks, only four of the 22 team members have been working out with the coach.

Bosox Acquire Angel Pitcher Fred Newman

Winter Haven, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced Friday the acquisition of pitcher Fred Newman from the California Angels for an undisclosed amount of money and a player to be named later.

Newman, on the Angels' El Paso, Tex., minor league team, has been bothered with arm trouble the past several seasons.

Baseball Schedule

During the 1969 baseball season teams in the East and West divisions will play each other only 12 times. Teams in the same division meet 18 times.

Change Is Planned In ETV Operation

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Council for Educational Television (NCET) Friday moved to develop plans for changing the financial support and the administration of programming agencies for the state's educational television.

NCET corporate members meeting here voted to recommend that the Nebraska Educational Television Commission appoint a committee to "plan the best way to finance and organize educational television for elementary and secondary education."

Representation from NCET, the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA), the State Department of Education and the ETV commission was recommended for the committee.

Problems related to the fee structure which finances the two programming agencies of NCET and MOEBA, duplication of some services and the emergence of cable television in numerous Nebraska communities prompted the 30 school administrators attending the corporate meeting to seek alternate methods of organization.

Under the present structure of NCET, school districts pay $2 per pupil to use the programming service broadcast over the Nebraska ETV network. MOEBA programs are telecast on the University of Nebraska at Omaha Channel 26.

However, ETV Commission Director Jack McBride pointed out, some districts "freeload" programming service without paying a fee.

Cable TV makes other instructional program services available in other communities. For example, some western Nebraska schools can receive Denver's educational television.

Omaha schools are able to receive both Channel 26 and 12, but only the Westside district carries membership in both programming agencies, according to McBride.

Coordination Needed

But, he added, "if we think ETV is useful, then additional programming should be welcomed." Coordination for scheduling and eliminating program duplication is necessary, however, for ETV to be the most useful to schools, he said.

McBride indicated that alternatives for organization would be a merger of the two programming agencies as a separate group, as a part of the State Department of Education or as a division of the ETV Commission.

NCET Executive Secretary Robert Chapman emphasized the need for state funds to finance any programming agency, noting that the present structure of NCET does not allow the group to receive state funds or federal grants and "does not make its services available to all boys and girls without financial discrimination."

In other business Friday the members approved a $279,474 budget for next year, which will provide for hiring full-time math and social studies teachers to develop ETV programs.

245 Volunteer To Help Search For Small Plane

A planned State Department of Aeronautics search for a South Dakota plane missing for more than two months has drawn 245 volunteers so far, Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Friday.

Tiemann said the volunteers, all airplane owners, will take part in the two-day search March 29 and 30.

The department a week ago announced plans for the search.

The small plane and its six passengers have been missing since Jan. 11. Four of the passengers were students at Augustana College in Sioux Falls, S.D., and the other two were instructors at the college.

Air and ground searches continued for some two weeks after the craft was reported missing, but increased snowfall and poor weather conditions forced a cancellation of the search.

Aeronautics Department spokesmen said the new search would cover about 16,000 square miles of north central Nebraska, almost a third of the entire state.

Yanks Gross More

Paris (AP) — French moviegoers patronized German, Italian and Russian films more during the last quarter of 1968, but the Americans made out with a higher revenue despite lower attendance, a survey by the French National Cinematographic Center reported.

Plans For Changing Drivers Manual Told

Motor Vehicle Department Director Emmett J. Dennis Jr. Friday unveiled plans for a new Nebraska drivers manual and new drives examinaton questions.

Dennis said the revisions, better geared to safety education and modern driving, should be ready for distribution by the middle of summer.

The decision to revamp the old manual and tests came at the urging of State Sen. Henry Pedersen of Omaha, a cosponsor of a bill passed two years ago requiring periodic re-examination of Nebraska drivers.

Pedersen said the old manual "does not meet modern needs and refers to laws which just aren't relevant any more." Many of the old test questions reflected this situation, he said.

Dennis said the actual test questions will also be included in the new manual, with reference to appropriate sections of the booklet providing the answers.

In addition, the manual and tests will be re-examined and revised every two years if necessary.

Approval Asked

Washington (AP) — President Nixon has asked the Senate to ratify two conventions that would expand protection of copyrights and industrial property.

Hide Exports Decline

New York — U.S. exports of hides, plagued by low prices, were down last year.

Auto Inspection Rules Changes Printed, Mailed

The legislative revisions to the annual auto inspection regulations have been printed and mailed to state inspections stations, Motor Vehicles Department Director Emmett J. Dennis said Friday.

Dennis said inspections will resume as soon as the inspection stations receive the revisions.

Cars which were slated for March inspections (with license plates ending in the digit "3") will be given until the end of April for inspection and approval, Dennis said

Truck inspections, slated to begin April 1, have also been postponed to June 1, he said.

Chiefs Never Got Warning On Pueblo

Washington (UPI) — House investigators reported Friday that the Joint Chiefs of Staff never received a message addressed to them urging study be given to protecting the USS Pueblo during its last intelligence-gathering mission.

Instead, said a special House armed services subcommittee, the warning was read by staff aides and sent on to the Pacific commander. There it was similarly evaluated and disposed of at lower echelons.

The message, written over the signature of the director of the National Security Agency, was sent in late December, 1967, on the same day the Joint Chiefs spent about an hour approving hundreds of reconnaissance missions, including the one that led to North Korea's capture of the Pueblo Jan. 23.

The Joint Chiefs approved the Pueblo mission as a low-risk operation, the subcommittee said, but the message to them suggested that "the characterization of the mission as minimal risk might be wrong" and that protection for the Pueblo might be considered.

To underscore the panel's contention that men responsible for decisions are not always the men who make them, Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., the subcommittee chairman, said it was a subordinate and not the agency director who actually sent the message.

"The director never saw it until after the Pueblo was captured," said Pike in a statement he read in behalf of the subcommittee.

Nixon Names Art Fletcher Assistant Labor Secretary

Olympia, Wash. (AP) — Art Fletcher, special urban affairs aide to Washington's Gov. Dan Evans, was named assistant secretary of labor Friday by President Richard Nixon.

Fletcher, 43, once a shoeshine boy and professional football player, will be responsible for wage and labor standards when he assumes the $38,750-a-year post April 1, Evans said.

A prime responsibility of his job will be manpower development projects and establishment of contact with mayors and local government, Fletcher said.

Nixon announced in Washington the nomination that would make Fletcher one of the highest ranking Negroes in the Republican administration. Evans announced it in Olympia.

The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

Fletcher, a former Pasco, Wash., city councilman who was defeated in a race for state lieutenant governor last fall, became Evans' assistant last month in the area of urban affairs and economic development.

Calling himself "a product of the ghetto," Fletcher gained Nixon's attention at the Republican National Convention when he went before the platform committee to promote "new action politics for whites, blacks, Indians and pinks."

Australian Red's Son Not Deferred

Sydney (UPI) — A special federal court Friday told the son of Australia's top Communist Party official he could not be classified as a conscientious objector to the Vietnam war.

The ruling meant Brian David Aarons, 23, of Sydney, now faces callup for Australia's draft. He is the son of Communist Party national secretary Laurie Aarons.

PODUNK'S PRICE IS GOING UP

Podunk Center, Iowa (AP) — With offers pouring in from as far away as England, the sale price of the all-American hick town, Podunk Center, is going up and up.

"Things are getting a bit out of hand," said owner Homer Weeks, "but a man would be stupid not to take advantage of it."

Weeks put his one-acre town up for sale last week. For generations the symbol of small-town America, it consisted of a cafe, filling station and grocery store—all under one roof—and a four-unit motel.

The price was set origingally at $7,000, but offers had reached $12,000 by Friday, with no end in sight.

Yugoslavs Nix Soviet Theory

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav Communist Party congress rejected unanimously Friday the Soviet doctrine of limited sovereignty used to justify the Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia last Aug. 20.

The congress adopted a resolution that said any interference by Communist states in the affairs of other Communist states was wrong "no matter what reasons purport to justify it."

All Warsaw Pact states except Romania are boycotting the Yugoslav conference on Moscow's orders. Czechoslovakia is among the boycotters. Romania and Yugoslavia both condemned the invasion aimed at halting Czechoslovakia's trend toward liberalism and independence from Moscow.

The Yugoslav congress also adopted measures streamlining the party's chain of command. Strong powers were given to a 15-member executive committee. The reorganization means a return to central direction of the party after a two-year experiment with decentralization.

DR. FELLMAN, 90 . . . a two-bike man.

Wiry Retired Dentist Active Harvard Oldster

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Harvard — Even by itself, Doc Fellman's bike would draw double takes from any respecter of antiquity.

But likely it isn't half as old as its owner. The retired dentist, known for half a century here as "Dr. C. E.," is still pushing pedals at an age when most men are pushing up daisies. He's an even 90.

"I commenced riding way back in the 1890's when cycles were really in style," said the wiry oldster. "But the main reason I'm still at it is that my eyes cost me my driver's license six months ago . . . worst misfortune I ever experienced."

Residing in a tiny office that still houses his foot-pedal drill, Doc scoffs at the idea of finding quarters more suited to his station. Bachelorhood — plus help from the right stocks — enabled him to retire from regular practice at age 45.

'Lower-Bracket Financier'

As recently as last year, however, he did some dental work for "a few old friends." Most of his time is invested in organ playing, summer gardening and studying finances.

"I call myself a lower-bracket financier," he said smilingly. "How successful? Just say I've been pretty successful."

He attended an Omaha dental college a year and Loyola of Chicago two years, graduating in 1908. After serving two years of internship, he practiced in Sutton four years before coming to Harvard.

His one concession to affluence is a two-wheeled one. New and bright red, it's a "second bike" which relatives keep for him in Hastings.

"I can ride in by bus," he explained, "but then a man has to have some way to get around town."

Right — and you can't expect a 90-year-old to walk.

Sentencing For Milder Is Deferred

Omaha (AP) — Chief Federal District Judge Richard E. Robinson has deferred sentencing for former Omaha real estate developer Howard Milder, 58, of Los Angeles.

Milder was found guilty on 14 of 27 counts of fradulently obtaining Federal Housing Administration loans.

An April 1965 indictment charged Milder with applying to savings and loan associations for home improvement loans on homes owned by 14 individuals.

13 Counts Dismissed

Milder pleaded innocent to 13 counts which were dismissed. He pleaded guilty to 14 others. Judge Robinson deferred sentencing on 13 of them and put Milder on four years probation on the other counts.

Robinson said he didn't think Milder made a profit on the transactions. Robinson said he placed Milder on probation for him to make restitution for any legitimate claims of lost money.

Services Planned For Mrs. Bayer, Former Teacher

Services for Mrs. Vera Alice Bayer of Hayward, Calif., former Lincoln schoolteacher, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Mission Creek Cemetery near Barneston.

Mrs. Bayer, a retired Hayward, Calif., teacher, died Thursday in Winter Park, Fla., at the age of 66.

She taught at Whittier Junior High School from 1928 to 1930 and was an English teacher at Lincoln High School from 1931 to 1940. Before going to California, Mrs. Bayer taught at Alliance for eight years.

Survivors include a brother, Clair Garrison of Winter Park, Fla.

Stock Market Prices Decline

New York (AP) — The stock market turned in its third straight losing performance Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average, off 3.41 points Wednesday and 10.38 more points Thursday, was off from the start Friday and closed with a loss of 2.86 points at 904.28. The Dow, whose previous low this year was 903.03 on Feb. 27, had been off as much as 3.30 points at 1 p.m.

Declines held a slim edge over gains early in the session, but they kept widening the gap as trading wore on. Of 1,533 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 892 declined, and 431 advanced. There were 5 new 1968-69 highs and 93 new lows.

The market was described as a "drifting one," by brokers, who said "no one seems to want to do any buying. The investors are indecisive, and Wall Street shrinks from indecisiveness."

They added that all the news considered bad in the previous declining sessions still existed, such as the troubled Vietnam situation, the uneasiness in the Mideast, and the continuing fear that money would be tightened further.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 8.63 million shares compared with 10.03 million Thursday. It was the lowest daily turnover since March 3, when volume was 8.26 million shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 1.5 at 330.7, with industrials off 2.5, rails off .8, and utilities off .5.

Of the 20 most-active stocks on the New York exchange, 15 declined, and 5 advanced.

Hess Oil, most-active on 172,700 shares, closed off ⅞ at 51⅝.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange generally were lower, with 13 of the 20 most active issues lower and 7 higher.

Volume totaled 4.6 million shares, compared with 3.82 million shares Thursday.

Best 'Attorney' Wins Her Case

Denver (AP) — "God is my attorney," said Maude E. VanKirk when she came to Denver County Court to defend herself on a charge of running a red light.

After she said, under oath, the light was green, she won her case.

Soybeans, Wheat And Corn Lower

Chicago (AP) — Soybeans, wheat and corn futures declined as much as 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Bord of Trade this week, influenced by the possibility of fewer exports, abundant 1969 farm production and continued strong competition for aricultural products in foreign countries.

The pace of trade, was. on average, only moderate.

When trade closed on Friday for the week, wheat was ¾ to 1⅜ cents a bushel lower, March 1.31¼; corn was 1½ to 1⅞ cents lower, March 1.13¾; oats were unchanged to ⅞ lower, March 65¾ cents; rye was ¾ to 1¼ cents lower, March 1.16; and soybeans were ⅝ to 2 cents lower, March 2.60¼.

4 Norfolk Men Slightly Injured As Plane Stalls

Norfolk (AP) — Four Norfolk men making a reconnaissance flight along the Elkhorn River to estimate flood potential were slightly injured when their light plane made an emergency landing on river ice.

Mrs. Gene Bierman, wife of the 36-year-old pilot said the engine of the plane stalled and the plane fell on river ice near Pilger.

Bierman was reported in good condition in a Norfolk hospital Friday. His three passengers — Randall Thies, Joseph Morris, and Arthur Banks — suffered cuts and bruises but were not hospitalized.

The four had to walk a mile and a half from the river to find help.

$2 off Turf Builder

America's favorite lawn fertilizer

Simply spread a bag of TURF BUILDER on your lawn and enjoy the difference it will make. Turf Builder is the patented fertilizer that makes grass multiply itself. It feeds slowly and steadily, avoiding the wasteful surge growth that makes for extra mowing. Keeps grass greener longer too. Pick up a bag this week end and enjoy a greener, thicker lawn this year.

$2 off Halts Plus

Crabgrass preventer plus fertilizer

If there was crabgrass in your neighborhood last year, it will likely be back this year, because its seeds are in the ground. But you can stop them before they get started in your lawn with HALTS PLUS. It sets up a barrier which stops crabgrass seeds as they sprout. Full-fertilizes good grass—and grubproofs your lawn for a full year—at the same time. All from a single application.

D. McIntyre New Assistant Fire Chief

Chief Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre has been named assistant fire chief of the Lincoln Fire Department effective April 6, Chief Dallas Johnson announced Friday.

DeWAYNE McINTYRE

Named Assistant

McIntyre of 4007 So. 37th joined the department in 1945, was promoted to lieutenant in 1960 and was named chief inspector in 1963.

He will replace retiring Assistant Chief Warren Miller of 6929 Colby, who has served the department for nearly 27 years.

Chief Johnson said that no one has yet been named to fill the chief inspector vacancy.

Behlen Okays Merger With Wickes Corp.

Columbus (AP) — Behlen Manufacturing Co. stockholders Friday approved a stock transfer with Wickes Corp. of Saginaw, Mich.

The agreement provides for the transfer of substantially all Behlen assets to a wholly owned subsidiary of Wickes in exchange for 535,000 shares of Wickes common stock. The transaction was closed after a shareowners meeting Friday.

Wickes manufactures die casting machines and specialized lathes used for fabricating vehicle crankshafts and is a leading supplier of graphite and carbon products.

Behlen makes steel fabricated buildings and other steel products.

Hy-Gain Becomes National Public Stock Enterprise

Closing ceremonies for the sale of 150,000 shares of Hy-Gain Electronics Corp. stock made the northeast Lincoln business a national public stock enterprise Friday.

Former private owners Ted and Andy Andros were presented a $900,000 check, representing the publicly offered shares bought the first day of the sale last week, by J. Cliff Rahel, head of the underwriting company.

The brothers retain two-thirds of the stock, or about 300,000 shares.

Hy-Gain, which had $5 million in sales for the year ending last August, handles about 150 electronic communication products.

With the stock cash and an $800,000 financing package with Prudential Life Insurance Co., Hy-Gain will expand facilities and products in their already international market.

AMBITIOUS SALESMAN

One who is anxious to get ahead and needs only the opportunity to do it. Perhaps he is stymied now in a selling job that limits his income and his future.

We are a nationally recognized office equipment manufacturer growing at a rapid rate due to introduction of new products and increased national advertising. More new products will soon create greater expansion and openings for advancement.

Incentive income program handsomely rewards hard working successful salesman with 5 figure earning based on salary commissions, quarterly bonus and profit sharing. Position offers all known fringe benefits besides exclusive Lincoln Area territory. Applicant should have proven sales record, preferably in creative or in tangible lines, plus the ability to meet and sell top level executives.

Write or phone for interview.

SAFEGUARDING YOUR TEEN-AGER AGAINST DRUGS . . .

Symptoms Of Drug Abuse Can Be Misleading

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series by a prize-winning science writer who provides parents with background on the narcotics and drug situation and suggests ways for them to help guard their children against its ill effects.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press
Science Writer

How do you know that someone is taking mind-affecting drugs?

Often there are telltale signs. But authorities warn that anyone making himself a self-appointed, suspicious detective faces pitfalls in interpreting such signs.

One reason is that other drugs, prescribed for medical conditions, can produce the same signs or effects. The suspected "drug taker" may actually be ill, or injured.

Another reason is that a person's behavior — if he seems depressed or lethargic, or gay and outgoing — may be only a purely emotional reaction to some experience or news that made him feel moody or excited.

General Sign

One general sign of drug abuse or dependence can be a break in the usual pattern of a person's life. But such a switch in interests and behavior can also stem from other causes, particularly during adolescent years with their customary and rather natural roller-coaster swings from enthusiasm to depression.

Use of marijuana is difficult to detect.

The person using it frequently may have reddened eyes and dilated pupils. But the redness of the eyes can also be caused by conjunctivitis or "pink eye" infection.

In early stages of using marijuana, the person may be stimulated and very animated, or behave in a silly fashion. Later on, he may seem sleepy or stuporous.

Characteristic Odor

Marijuana has a characteristic acrid odor, like burned alfalfa or rope, that may cling to clothing for a few hours.

There are no blood or urine tests to detect marijuana, or LSD.

Drug authorities estimate that pot smoking is going up among high school students, but they have no reliable figures. In some schools, marijuana is becoming quite popular, says Dr. Henry Brill, former vice-chairman of the Narcotics Addiction Control Commission of New York State.

"But, like sex, there may be a lot of boasting talk about marijuana rather than actual indulgence in it," he says.

LSD may make the pupils of the eyes dilate, so that a person who has recently taken a sufficient dose may wear dark sunglasses, even indoors. But, again, this same effect can be brought on by a medication, like an antihistamine that contains atropine. Or young people may wear their sunglasses out of affectation, or plain forgetfulness.

Not Disoriented

The LSD user, depending on the drug dose and his reaction, is usually not disoriented, one expert says. He can usually strighten up and give an impression nothing is wrong. He may be inclined to sit or lie quietly, in a dream-like state, but also may become highly agitated.

Up to five per cent of college students may have tried LSD at the height of its popularity, Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth, Harvard University psychiatrist, estimates. Now, with dangers or potential dangers of the drug better known, probably under one per cent are experimenting with it or using it frequently.

Pep pills or amphetamines can cause a variety of effects. Small doses make a person more alert, and reduce his need to sleep.

These drugs suppress appetite — one reason they are prescribed by physicians sometimes is to aid in weight reduction — and reduce the sense of fatigue. The abuser may be restless and nervous, may become very talkative, or have delusions.

Bad Breath

Amphetamines produce a drying effect on mucous membranes of the mouth and nose. Bad breath and frequent licking of the lips may result.

Barbiturates — the goofballs — may make a person appear drunk, but with no odor of alcohol on his breath. With a small amount, he may feel more relaxed, sociable, and good-humored. Larger doses can cause thick speech, clumsy or slowed movements, drowsiness and poor judgment.

The person drugged on heroin and other narcotics usually appears sleepy and lethargic, or even very intoxicated. Pupils of the eyes may be constricted, not responding to light.

Finding hypodermic needles and other equipment on his person, or hidden away, is of course a give-away. The regular heroin user likely wears long sleeves even on hot days to hide needle marks on his arms.

Except in the instance of needle marks on the arms, none of the signs or symptoms described above are sure-fire clues someone is taking drugs.

Experts warn you should not jump to conclusions because you detect or think you detect any of these symptoms.

Kiewit Co. Low Bidder On Interstate Project

By Associated Press

Omaha's Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. was announced Friday as apparent low bidder on an Interstate highway construction project in Omaha costing more than $7½ million.

The project, believed one of the largest single projects in dollar amount in Highway Department history, was included in nearly $14 million worth of highway construction and maintenance jobs on which bids were opened by the Department of Roads Thursday.

The Kiewit bid of $7,566,319 involves pavement, two viaduct superstructures and guard rail on one-half mile of Interstate 480 between 21st and 12th Streets in Omaha.

The only other Interstate highway work in the letting involved seeding and guard rail in Deuel County.

The projects by county of location, with low bidders and amounts (I-Interstate; N-Nebraska; US-United States):

Meet Star Carrier Orion Knee

ORION KNEE Feels Lucky

"I'm lucky — most kids don't have an opportunity like this," says Orion Knee about his paper route.

The young Lincolnite says he likes everything about his job. He enjoys meeting his customers, feels that he is learning quite a bit about handling money and is proud that he was able to increase his route considerably.

A student at Prescott School, Orion's favorite subject is English and he also uses part of his spare time for writing stories and poetry.

Orion's achievements in sports have made him a sought-after end and back in football and short-stop in baseball. He also enjoys kick soccer, volleyball, swimming and fishing.

As to the future, Orion would like to major in Spanish when he goes to college and hopes to become a member of its basketball team.

His parents think that having a paper route has helped Orion to become more responsible, dependable and thrifty.

Going to move? Then notify the Circulation Dept. so you won't miss your paper. Be sure to give both old and new address.

Education Of Deaf To Be Discussed

The fifth annual symposium on Research and Utilization of Educational Media for Teaching the Deaf will be held March 17-19 at the Nebraska Center in Lincoln.

Theme of this year's symposium will be "Individualizing Instruction for the Deaf Student" and 14 nationally known experts in the field will share their research findings and experience with an estimated 170 administrators and supervisors of programs for the deaf in public, private and parochial schools.

The symposium is being sponsored by the Midwest Regional Media Center for the Deaf, and the department of educational administration in the University of Nebraska Teachers College.

Parade is the big four-color picture magazine section in the "Sunday Journal and Star."
